

TWELVE INJURED IN WRECK

Big Four Passenger Train Plowed Into L. S. & M. S. Train

TELESCOPED PULLMAN

After Splintering Dining Car—Accident Happened Near Cleveland Early To- day—Injured Rushed to Hospital.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, July 18.—Big Four passenger train No. 11 plowed into the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern passenger train due in Cleveland at 4:25 a. m. between Perry and Madison, east of here, early today, while the Lake Shore train was held up by a freight stalled ahead of it. It splintered the dining car to pieces and telescoped the next car, a Pullman, injuring twelve persons.

Eight of the injured were brought to a Cleveland hospital on a special train. The others are being treated at Madison and Perry. While some are seriously injured none are thought fatally hurt.

The injured brought here were: R.
W. Buchanan, Ludlow, Ky., conductor, and John Rudwig, chef, Adolph Schneider, assistant chef, Harry Bevan, clerk, and E. Syles, A. L. Wallace, George Lewis and William Payton, waiters, all of Cincinnati, cut and bruised.

The Lake Shore train, stalled by the freight, was standing on the main track. A flagman was sent back to stop No. 11, which leaves the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern tracks at Cleveland and turns southward on the Big Four tracks to Columbus, but in the darkness and fog, the trainmen say, it is supposed his light was not visible to the engineer of the Big Four train.

All of the injured brought here were in the dining car. Those in the Pullman escaped serious injury.

SOLDIER LOVER WAS FALSE SAYS MISS MAHANEY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paterson, N. J., July 18.—Miss Emma Mahaney, 67 years old, Wester, Ct., asks a heart balm of $25,000 from John Wolf, a 77 year old veteran of the civil war and a retired merchant in papers which have been served upon him here.

Miss Mahaney says she has not seen Mr. Wolf since their separation in 1863 when he went to the front.
It is alleged he had proposed to her. She says she has lost 50 years in the hope that her sweetheart of youthful days would some day wed
her and that she was recently encouraged by a recent proposal by mail but was later advised that their marriage would never take place. She has forwarded scores of alleged love letters, many of them containing poems.

AKRON BONDS WENT BEGGING; NO BIDDERS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Akron, O., July 18.—Over one and one-half million dollars worth of city bonds, to provide money for the improvement of the local water works system went begging today when offered for sale at 1-14 per cent interest.

Neither were there any bidders on $289,000 worth of street improvement bonds bearing an interest rate of 5 per cent.

Failure to sell the bonds may hold up the work of building a new water system of which Akron probably stands in greater need than any other city in the state.

John Adams Makes Statement on the Forged Petitions

To the Public:

In consequence of a resolution adopted by the Trades Council pertaining to the exposure of the fraudulent referendum petitions against the Workmen's Compensation act, which resolution has been given advertising publication, I deem it justice to myself to make a statement of my own action in the exposure which I did in behalf of the cause of labor. The first information I had regarding the forged petitions was when I was called to the Advocate office by Editor Newton and shown by him a copy of the Newark petition which he had obtained from the Secretary of State. I found him very much exercised over the petition in consequence of so many names of laboring men being signed to it.

Mr. Newton said to me: "John Adams, is it possible that all those workmen have been induced to sign this paper which means cutting their own throats? Or have these names been forged?"
Mr. Newton then said the matter should be thoroughly investigated and asked me to render him all the assistance I could to find out the facts so that exposure could be made if we found there had been forgery committed. I have rendered this assistance as far as I have had time to devote to it.

As I saw the name of W. A. Archer signed to the petition I deemed it my duty to go to him as a friend and ask him whether he had signed the petition, which was the first information he had about it.
He pronounced it a forgery and I advised him to go and see the petition in Mr. Newton's possession. Mr. Archer got busy when he went and saw that his name had been forged to the petition and I have commended him in what he has done in assisting to expose the fraud.

As a wage worker I feel that it is our duty to approve and extol the gallant fight that Governor Cox is making for this cause, which is our cause, and I commend especially his efforts to have the responsible Higher-Ups prosecuted for the outrage that has been committed. If the Governor wins this great fight he is now making we will be especial beneficiaries.

Not only should we take a strong stand to uphold the Governor in his fight for a cause which is our cause, but there should be expressed approval of the strong defense and assistance which we see he is daily getting to help him win in the columns of the Newark Advocate.

GIVES PICNIC FOR 20,000 CHILDREN

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, July 18.—Twenty thousand Kansas children are guests of the Big Four picnic, a millionaire, railroad man, at his annual children's picnic. All the expenses, even including railroad fare to Atchison are borne by Mr. Waggoner.

Club Women Will Watch Councilmen

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, July 18.—Chicago club women plan to pack the council chamber Monday night, armed with pad and pencil, to keep tabs on the activities of the men regarding certain municipal problems to be considered. They expect to make an impressive demonstration if the council fails to take action on the garbage question. This city's contract with a corporation for the disposal of refuse expires within five weeks.

FLASHLIGHT

Picture in "Movie" Caused Stampede Among Foreigners and Number Was Hurt.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Newark, N. J., July 18.—Nearly 100 persons, many of them children were injured, fortunately not more than two of them seriously enough to be taken to hospitals, in a moving picture theatre last night. The stampede was caused by the setting of a flashlight to take a photograph of the crowd.

The exhibition was being given by the state board of health in conjunction with the Newark anti-tuberculosis campaign and hundreds of foreigners were among the 1,500 or more persons present.

The failure of the foreigners to understand a notice, flashed upon the screen, that the picture would be taken, led to the stampede. The panic which followed setting off of the flashlight.

All Day Long

While you are on your vacation you will feel lonely for the Advocate back home. Save yourself the annoyance by ordering your paper before you leave Newark. Your home paper received every day while you are away will be like getting a letter from home.

Subscriptions accepted for any period, no matter
if only for a few days. If you are having the Advocate delivered in Newark by carrier it will be sent anywhere by mail
if you simply give the order.

Just lift the receiver NOW. Ring Auto 1333 and give your present and your vacation addresses. The Advocate will gladly do the rest.

GOVERNOR PREDICTS ARRESTS

Disclosures Will Result In Taking Number Into Custody

SPECIAL AGENTS BUSY

Securing Evidence in Var- ious Counties of the State —Alleged Petition Forger Bound Over.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, O., July 18.—Although he had not communicated with authorities in Cleveland, Toledo and Cincinnati early today, Governor Cox expressed the belief, when he arrived at his office this morning, that there would be developments
in these cities before night.

"Arrests will be made just as fast as evidence which can be used in court is obtained," said the governor today.

Disclosures made in the office of the secretary of state yesterday by James Geierling of Cleveland that he had written about 7,000 names into a petition from a telephone directory and additional information he gave prosecutor Cyrus Locher of Cuyahoga county are expected to result in the taking into custody of several persons in Cleveland.

Disclosures resulting from the work of the election board officials in carefully examining the petitions filed from Lucas county, which was completed yesterday, is expected to bring about arrests in Toledo while in Cincinnati members of the attorney general's department are said to have gathered additional valuable evidence substantiating the charges of fraud in that city.

Wm. Martin alleged forger of names to Green Law referendum petitions, waived examination in police court today and was bound over to the grand jury by Judge Osborn under $1,000 bond.

Martin is a former Cincinnati policeman and his confession of referendum frauds followed closely upon that of Ralph E. Lipscomb of Newark.

SPECIAL AGENTS AT WORK.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cincinnati, July 18.—Thomas Hennessey, 41, a printer, of this city was arrested early today and taken to police headquarters where he was questioned regarding a referendum petition on the Green workmen's compensation act. Hennessey claimed he knew nothing of the petitions and after further questioning, he was released. It being shown that he was the wrong Hennessey.

A large company of special agents of the state who are investigating the cases, are in the city. Some of them left today in the automobile, after studying a road map, but their destination is unknown.

Asst. Attorney Generals Marshall and Dempsey arrived in Cincinnati from Columbus today, and at once called on Chief of Police Copeland.
The two officials were with the chief for some time. Detective Chief Crim was called into the consultation also.
The first action taken after the arrival of the officials was to instruct detectives to take to the police headquarters, George E. Maroney, a solicitor, who lives at Fourth and Mill streets. Maroney had been mentioned by Martin in his confession in connection with the petitions from Hamilton that were rejected by the authorities. They wanted to question Maroney, Dempsey and Marshall said that they would not act in the matter of arrests until odds and ends they have gathered are made into a solid fabric.

The petition slips found in the valise of Martin in his room late yesterday were examined by the two attorneys. Martin said these petitions had been filled in a hotel at Hamilton but that they had been refused because the "I's" and "Y's" on them were too much alike. They had all been signed up by Martin. It is the opinion of the lawyers that they cannot be used for prosecution purposes because they were not filed or sworn to.

WILL ISSUE TEN WARRANTS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, O., July 18.—County Prosecutor Locher was still unprepared today to issue warrants for perjury against Clevelanders charged with falsifying signatures to Green Law referendum petitions.
He said that he has evidence to warrant the arrest of two men, but is unable to locate them. He expects to issue ten warrants before he completes his investigation.

Locher said today that he sees no chance to get at "higher ups." He intimated that in his opinion the Ohio Equity association, which had charge of the referendum, may have been victimized by men hired to circulate the petitions.

50 Bridges Are Gone In Licking

With fully half a hundred bridges, from 10 to 40 feet in length, washed away by the storms of Sunday and Tuesday nights, the county officials are facing the necessity of a bond issue to replace the structures.
The loss is roughly estimated at $50,000. More damage was done to county bridges by these two rains than was done in the March flood. Most of the damage was confined to the smaller streams.

TABLED THE RESOLUTION OF SEN. BRISTOW

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 18.—By strict party vote, the senate Democrats today succeeded without debate in tabling Senator Bristow's resolution aimed at Secretary Bryan's proposed six weeks' lecture tour. The resolution would have called on President Wilson to advise the senate what salary would be sufficient to keep
Mr. Bryan in comfort at his post, and was prompted by the secretary's public announcement that he was obliged to augment his pay of $12,000 a year by lecturing to meet his living expenses.

Senators Poindexter and Borah voted with the Democrats to table the resolution. The vote was 31 to 29.

LICKING FARMERS HEAVY SUFFERERS FROM THE STORMS

Licking county farmers will suffer heavy financial loss from the electrical storms of the past few days. Besides those already mentioned in these columns, the following losses have been reported for adjustment to the F. M. B. Windle agency:

Mrs. Samantha Hunter, five miles east of the city, barn destroyed.
W. D. Kinney, Union Station, house destroyed.
J. A. Showman, west of Newark,
sheep killed.
I. P. Jones, south of Granville,
sheep killed.
W. H. Pittsford, valuable bull killed.
T. J. Stradley, north of Newark,
sheep killed.
T. J. Dunlap, sheep killed.
Mrs. A. White, Reynoldsburg, dwelling destroyed.
The loss on the J. A. McGonagle dwelling, destroyed Monday, was adjusted in the Windle agency.

RACES AGAIN POSTPONED ON GRAND CIRCUIT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Pittsburg, July 18.—After vainly trying to put the Brunot Island track in condition managers of the Grand Circuit races this afternoon at 2:40 cancelled the program for the day.

CLOSING DAY OF CELEBRATION AT LORAIN, OHIO

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Lorain, O., July 18.—This was the closing day of the Perry centennial celebration in this city. It was "peace day," and appropriate exercises were held in commemoration of one hundred years of peace between the United States and Great Britain.

Today's sport program included a marathon race and motorcycle contests. Tonight a naval regatta in which all the craft in the harbor, brilliantly illuminated, will take part,
will close the celebration.

Tomorrow the Perry flagship, the Niagara, will start for Put-In-Bay in custody of her escorts, the Wolverine and Essex. She probably will stop at Sandusky on the way.

WONT PROSECUTE KIDNAPER.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Newcastle, Ind., July 18.—Thinking the kidnappers of his 9 year old daughter Katherine may be afraid to release her for fear of prosecution, Dr. W. A. Winters yesterday issued a statement promising not to prosecute anyone if she is returned private detectives and the police of many cities have failed to find a clue to the whereabouts of the child who disappeared last March.

TARIFF BILL REPORTED TO THE SENATE TODAY AND DEBATE BEGINS

Revenue From All Sources for Fiscal Year Will Total $996,810,000 With Disbursements of $994,790,000

LARGE INCREASE OF IMPORTS ADMITTED FREE

Provision Furnished President With Power to Impose Tariff Duties of a Retaliatory Character, Including Many Agricultural Products—Lowest Income Tax Exemption $3,000 and Highest $5,000—Change in All Schedules.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 18.—An average reduction of 27.64 per cent under the rates of the existing Payne-Aldrich tariff law is proposed by the Democratic Underwood-Simmons tariff bill upon which the senate began general debate today, according to the report of the finance committee majority submitted by the chairman, Senator F. M. Simmons.

The report also shows that the bill as reported to the senate provides rates 4.22 per cent lower than the Underwood bill as it passed the house and that from it, together with other government receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914
there will be an estimated surplus in the government treasury of $2,- 020,000.

A salient feature of this bill, it is pointed out, is the large increase of imports to be admitted free of duty.
Under the house bill the value of free listed imports, on the basis of 1912 importations was $103,000,- 000, whereas the Democrats of the senate, in caucus, by sweeping changes, propose to free list imports valued at $147,367,000, an increase in undutiable imports over the house bill of $44,367,000.

The report estimates that the receipts from customs alone under the new bill will be $266,730,000
from income tax for ten months, $58,330,000; corporation tax $37,- 000,000; internal revenue including tax on cotton futures of $5,000,000, $297,000,000 and that the revenue from all other sources will bring the total for the fiscal year to $996,- 810,000. With disbursements, estimated for the committee by treasury experts at $994,790,000, a balance is shown in favor of the government of $2,020,000.

In analyzing its changes in the house administrative features of the bill the committee "deemed the amendments of the house entirely unfortunate," particularly those authorizing examination of books of foreign manufacturers, a five per cent tariff discount on imports in American ships and other like features which were stricken out.
Particular attention is called to the senate provision "designated to furnish the president with power to impose tariff duties of a retaliatory character upon all articles comprised in a specified list," which includes many agricultural products.

"For many years," says the report in referring to this retaliatory provision, "there has been a development of maximum and minimum tariffs abroad, and in not a few instances the government of the United States has been compelled to see its citizens subjected to harsh and discriminating tariff treatment abroad without being able under the law to afford relief. The tariff act of 1909 recognized this situation and established a general maximum schedule of duties twenty-five per cent higher than the general or minimum rates of the law. This maximum schedule has proved embarrassing, clumsy and inadequate, and the situation under it has been less satisfactory than that which previously existed. No material advantages have been derived from it,
but, on the contrary it has stood in the way of successful commerce with other countries.

"The provision now recommended will, it is believed, place in the hands of the president powers which though extensive in their sphere, are sufficiently circumscribed to permit of their being exerted within the limits assigned them without disturbing the general fiscal system of the United States.

Reduction of the basic exemption from income tax from $4,000 as in the house bill to $3,000 for unmarried persons and the consequent rearrangement of this the report comments upon as follows:

"Your committee reduces the amount of exemption of net income to $3,000 and allows on account of marriage an additional exemption of $1,000 to either the husband or wife where they are living together but not to both. In the case of a minor child or children living with and dependent upon the parent such parent is allowed an additional exemption of $500 for one minor child and up to $1,000 on account of minor children, except where both parents are taxable, in which case no exemption is allowable on account of children. By the amendment the lowest possible exemption to any one person would be $3,000 and the highest possible exemption to any one person $5,000. While the amendment may make no wide difference in the volume of revenue derivable from the tax, it is deemed equitable as recognizing the added obligations on account of marriage and children and salutary as emphasizing the family as the unit in our social structure."

The changes in all the schedules are dealt with at length in the report. Of agricultural products many of which were transferred to the free list in addition to those put there by the house, the committee has this to say:

"The house bill and amendments

SOLDIERS HURT IN SEATTLE BY STREET CROWD

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Seattle, Wash., July 18.—Three enlisted men of the United States army were injured last night when a number of soldiers and sailors who participated in the military parade were attacked by a crowd of men attending a street meeting of the Industrial Workers of the World.

The sailors were only slightly wounded. According to the statement to the police the soldiers passed the crowd when a woman speaker was abusing the army and navy.

As they passed a man shouted:
"There goes three soldiers now." The crowd at once attacked the soldiers and a fight was on, during which the soldiers received a number of cuts with pocket knives. Two sailors of the reserves went to the aid of the soldiers. The police then arrived and restored order.

Believe Japanese Are Financing Revolution In Chinese Provinces

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Peking, China July 18.—The situation brought about by the rebellion in the southern provinces of China, has improved somewhat today regarding the northern point of view. More soldiers have deserted the government of provisional President Yuan Shi Kai
than had been anticipated by the authority. Heavy fighting is expected at K'ien-Kang in the province of Kiang-Si after the full following the recent defeat of the southern forces at Hu-Chow in the province of Che-Kiang.

The southerners have been joined by the forts at Wu-Sung, a seaport ten miles north of Shanghai, and at Nanking, the southern capital, both in the province of Kiang-Si while the large force of troops occupying them

has also gone over to the rebels.
The leaders of the southern forces, issuing a proclamation today, announcing the appointment as president of the republic of Tsen Chunhsuan, a former viceroy of Canton,
and Yuan Shi Kai's old enemy.

The southern rebels yesterday killed 20 officers who had remained loyal to the Peking government, including the new governor of the province of Ngen-hwei.

Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai
had a long conference with the loyal generals today and plans for the suppression of the rebellion were discussed. The belief prevails very generally in Peking that the Japanese are financing the revolution in the southern provinces, and some of the newspapers assert that forty Japanese army officers are with the rebel troops.

GLASS WORKERS RUSH BUSINESSES OF CONVENTION

With the noon adjournment of Friday, delegates to the national convention of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union proceeded to discuss the convention in a whirlwind session of officers and choosing of the 1914 convention city. It was the hope of officers that all business of the gathering would be wound up by holding the afternoon session a little later than usual, allowing the delegates to reach their homes for Sunday.

Friday was the day of redoubled effort on behalf of booster squads from the cities seeking next year's convention. Beaver Valley, Pa., seemed to have a little better of the race shortly after noon when the delegates from that place put in their bid, with meeting with strong favor. Indianapolis boosters weren't wasting any time, and the delegation from Rochester, Pa., continued their hard work to land the convention for President Rowe's home city.

While it had been hinted throughout the convention's two weeks of activity that there might be some contests for minor office, none assumed any very alarming proportions up to the final tip of the big meeting, and the last thing given out from the convention headquarters today before the delegates went into session was that it looked like all the officers of 1913 would be re-elected.

Several minor committees reported and in practically every instance the report was accepted as offered. Officers declined to make public the recommendations of the wage scale committee until after it has been submitted to conferees representing the glassworkers. These conferees will take up the wage question with a similar committee from the organization of glass ware manufacturers at an early date.

A crowd of the curious assembled Thursday evening near the east entrance to the court house, where the famous Gazan drill team, and officers of the order posed for photographs. Three views were taken of the group, and there has been a big demand for prints from the photographs.

President Rowe, Vice President Clark, Secretary Crooke and Treasurer McGrath, national officers were presented with beautifully carved-handled silk umbrellas by Chairman McKay on behalf of the local arrangement committee Thursday afternoon. Each responded with a neat speech of appreciation.

Good nature and humor has marked the convention this year perhaps more than ever before, and national officers say the Newark convention will be a memorable one in that it has been the most harmonious of any yet held by the organization.

Unlike most conventions, delegates have not begun to depart before the final session, and Friday every delegate was present, despite the fact that the business of two weeks was practically concluded. This is partly accounted for, it is said, by the fact that every delegate desired his vote on the national officers and on the next convention city.

FATALITY LIST GROWING.

Bellefontaine, July 18.—Two dead and 20 seriously ill is the result so far of the epidemic of promethine poisoning here. Julius Kiser, a well-known amateur baseball pitcher, was the latest to succumb. The dinner Sunday at a local restaurant and his very ill at his home Sunday. The board of health is conducting an official investigation. One theory is that new potatoes served at the restaurant were impregnated with paris green which had been sprayed on the potatoes while they were growing.

DELAWARE VICTIM.

Delaware, July 18.—Mrs. Jack Morgan of White Sulphur, one of the seven persons from this county suffering from promethine poisoning as a result of a dinner Sunday at a Bellefontaine restaurant, where she stopped on an auto trip, is in a critical condition. The other victims here are recovering.

Going away for a vacation? If so, call on ROE EMERSON'S and select your trunk, suit case or bag. Good selection.

Don't feed swine here. It isn't fit for food. It is good for feeding around crackeries, iron castings and such things, but isn't fit to pack a horse's stomach with.

How to Build Up or Tear Down This Community

By J. O. LEWIS

The Farmer and the Merchant.

THERE can be no doubt that the prosperity of the country—the entire people—is based on the quantity of produce RAISED ON THE FARM, and no other one thing so seriously affects the business interests of the country as a general crop failure. If the crops are generally good throughout the country and happen to be a failure in one particular locality the merchants are not dependent on the home farmer, but can have his goods, produce, etc., shipped in from other sections and thus supply the demand of his customers, while, on the other hand, THE FARMER IS ALWAYS DEPENDENT ON HIS HOME MERCHANTS—the town or city which is his marketing place—and the home banks for the handling and disposition of his products.

THE MERCHANT NEVER BUYS HIS PRODUCE, HAY AND GRAIN FROM OUTSIDE POINTS WHEN HE CAN GET THEM FROM THE FARMER, BUT THAT THE FARMER IS GIVEN LARGELY TO THE PRACTICE OF ORDERING MANY OF HIS NEEDS FROM STORES IN OTHER CITIES, MORE PARTICULARLY THE LARGE MAIL ORDER HOUSES, IS A WELL KNOWN FACT.

Not a day passes that goods of almost every description, from soaps to farm implements, including gasoline engines, manure spreaders, seed planters, cream separators, cooking stoves and ranges, clothing, groceries and what not, are seen in our depots and express offices addressed to local farmers.

MR. FARMER, DO YOU THINK IT RIGHT TO COME TO TOWN WITH A LOAD OF PRODUCE AND SELL IT TO THE MERCHANTS OF YOUR MARKET PLACE AND THEN TAKE THE MONEY HE PAYS YOU AND SEND IT TO SOME MAIL ORDER HOUSE AND BUY GOODS THAT YOU COULD BUY JUST AS CHEAPLY AT HOME AS FROM A MAIL ORDER HOUSE AND HAVE THE FURTHER SATISFACTION OF SEEING WHAT YOU BUY?

You may say, "Oh, well, I sold my butter and eggs to the groceryman, but he doesn't handle clothing." Yes; but, my farmer friend, if the clothing man does not sell his clothing he must go out of business, and the groceryman loses a good customer, his business is curtailed, and he then must needs buy less of your produce. You are just as much in duty bound to buy your clothing, your hardware, your farm tools and other necessities from your home market as if these merchants all dealt in your wares first hand.

THESE VARIOUS BUSINESSES ARE INTERLOCKING AND INTERDEPENDENT, AND ON THEIR SUCCESS DEPENDS YOUR SUCCESS.

A certain good farmer in this county ordered a corn planter from a mail order house, and owing to delays in freights, did not get his planter in time to do his planting while a good spell of weather was on. However, it finally came. He got it to the farm, set it up and started in with his planting. Through carelessness or oversight a small gravel got in one of the holes through which the corn drops and there lodged, with the result that the plate was broken. This put the planter out of commission. The farmer had to stop his corn planting and come to town to see if he could get another plate. He called on the hardware stores and implement dealers, but as none of them carried these mail order house planters in stock he could find no plate, and the final result was he was forced to follow the plow and drop his corn by hand. Had he purchased his planter from a home merchant he could easily have got the necessary repairs and not been delayed. It certainly was more costly to the farmer than if he had paid his home implement dealer many dollars more. Furthermore, the implement dealer had been buying corn every season from this farmer who bought his planter from a mail order house.

Every dollar you send to a mail order house is taken out of local circulation entirely, and the good of it is lost forever. IT HURTS YOU IN THE LONG RUN just as much as any one. Therefore, before you order anything else from out of your home town go to town and see if you can find what you want, or if you can't get to town telephone a merchant, and if it is a small package he will send it out by parcel post. If it isn't satisfactory send it back. Merchants guarantee the goods they sell just as well as mail order houses. There is not a local merchant who will not treat you right. Give him a chance and he will appreciate it.

made by the committee on finance, fully recognized the paramount interest of our agricultural population by placing agricultural implements of every kind and description, fence and baling wire, cotton baling and twine, wire netting, blankets, boots and shoes, cement, paper, lumber, coal, harness, saddles, cotton and woolen goods, carriages, harness, iron and steel, and other things, sewing machines and many other products of daily utility on the free list. In common with the rest of our people, our agricultural population will share in the benefits brought about by the reduction of the duties on sugar and its eventual elimination. The substantial reductions made all along the line on cotton and woolen goods, wearing apparel of every description, on engines, household implements and utensils, hardware and similar products of our factories, will remove a considerable part of the burden of tariff taxation from the farmer as well as the laborer in the city and the laborer in the factory, fields and mines.

The steel and wool schedules are left unchanged as to free sugar and free raw wool, but reductions by the Senate measure in wool tops and yarns is explained, and swathing reduction in the wool schedule are reverted in the report with considerable comment. Pig iron, and other products were placed on the free list by the committee.

Concerning the general revision the senate committee says that following the lead of the house, it "has sought in the amendments it proposes to the house bill to further carry out and perfect the theory of establishing a revenue producing tariff upon the basis of competitive rates, as a just and fair interpretation in the light of existing conditions of the latest and authoritative utterances of the party in power upon that subject, and now submits the results of its labors with the confident belief that the enactment into law of the house bill as amended will result in a more equitable distribution of the burdens and incidental benefits of our system of customs taxation; that it will tend to disintegrate the monopolies built up under the present system; that it will enhance opportunity through individual effort, reduce the cost of living and relieve the people from the burdens of the protective system. It is a bill, exemplified in the so-called Payne-McCulloch bill which this measure is intended to supersede."

FOOT BRIDGE RESTORED OVER THE SOUTH FORK

Residents of the hill in the South Side, who cross the South Fork at Second street are no longer compelled to cross the stream by boat, as the foot bridge which was incapacitated by the recent rains is now restored and foot traffic is as practicable as before. The stream was swollen by the recent rains and each time the temporary bridge which is done service until the new concrete bridge is completed was washed out, necessitating that the stream be forded by boat or that the inhabitants of the hill walk nearly one mile up stream to the German street bridge.

The patrol wagon brought the city boat back to headquarters this morning.

FIVE INJURED WHEN AN AUTO TURNS TURTLE

Associated Press Telegram
Columbus, July 18.—Five persons, two women and three men, were badly injured today two miles north of Worthington when an automobile in which they were riding at a rapid speed turned turtle. Both of the women and one of the men are said to be probably fatally injured.

The wrecked automobile and its passengers were found a mile and a half north of Worthington this morning by a crew of a traction car, and brought to this city and taken to a hospital. The men were: Roy Kissinger of Columbus, a real estate man; Claude Southard of Bellefontaine, salesman for a Bellefontaine bridge company, and cousin of Kissinger, and Rosten Medberry of Columbus, a real estate man. It is thought Southard's neck is broken.

Both of the injured women regained consciousness several hours after the accident. Their names are Esther Beshur and Geneva King, members of well known families in the central eastern residence district.

WEIGHT SALES LAW MUST BE OBSERVED

Columbus, July 18.—In order to convince city authorities of the state that the new sales by weight law must be enforced, State Dairy and Food Commissioner S. E. Strode, has ordered deputies to prosecute violations in Columbus. Half a dozen affidavits were prepared by the Attorney General's department and if the cases are contested, a test will be made of the new law. The action was taken when the Columbus officials ignored the law on the ground that it should first be tested in court. If officials in other cities are slow in arresting violators, the state department will act, it is announced.

20-INNING TIE GAME PLAYED AT ADRIAN

Adrian, Mich., July 18.—Battle Creek and Adrian, the leading teams in the Southern Michigan league, yesterday played 20 innings to a tie, each scoring one run before darkness ended the struggle. Manager Jenkins of Adrian scored the run for his team in the fourth inning. He led off with a single, advanced on a sacrifice hit and a passed ball and tallied on a sacrifice fly. Pitcher McDonald of Battle Creek tripled in the sixth and scored on an error. Both pitchers showed wonderful control. Loomis of Adrian, a right-hander, struck out 19 batters and issued one pass—purposely in the twentieth inning. McDonald, a south-paw, fanned 16 and passed no one.

PITCHERS MUST NOT DROP BALL—LYNCH

New York, July 13.—President Lynch of the National league sent the following notice to all club managers: "League umpires have been instructed to enforce rule 31, section 1, as follows: "If, with one or more runners on the bases, the pitcher (either by accident or intent), drops the ball while in the act of delivering same to batsman, to exhibit state of mind occupied by a base runner, the umpire will call a 'balk' and the runner or runners will advance one base. Please inform your players of the above."

Had he kept to the wagon, avoided all dissipation, and trained properly it is almost a cinch that he would have become the champion of the world. Instead, he tried to keep the distilleries and the breweries running, and he passed out of the limelight without ever wearing the crown that nature had given him the right to win.
1907.—Jim Flynn knocked out Dave Barry in 7th round at Pueblo.
1911.—Andy Morris knocked out Jim Savage in 2d round at New York.

YOUNG FARMER FINDS TIME FOR SCHOOL.

Running a farm of 125 acres since the death of his father eight years ago has not kept Howard Rogers of Putnam county from attending the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, although he had to make the start with the farm on his hands. He has now completed three years of successful work at the college and will complete the regular four year course in agriculture next year. When asked how he had been able to do it, Rogers did not regard it as much of a feat but said: "I made up my mind I wanted to attend the college, so by plugging along, working at home in the summers and keeping my eyes open I have been able to manage it very well. When down here at Columbus going to school, if I hear of a good mare or a good bunch of hogs that can be bought to advantage, I hunt them up and send them home. At present the farm is well stocked." Rogers is specializing in agronomy at school.

FLYING BOAT USED IN PRACTICAL WAY

Chicago Man Plans to Fly to and From His Office.

Chicago. — A striking indication of the part that aviation is destined to take in practical problems of transportation is given by a recent tendency, just beginning to manifest itself in America, to use the flying boat in a practical way for ordinary business purposes. For daily travel between Chicago and his home in Lake Forest, a suburb twenty-five miles north of the business center of the city, Harold F. McCormick is planning to use a Curtiss flying boat. This flying boat is adapted for use as an aeroplane, but is said to be a stanch and seaworthy boat as well. In ordinary practice it will be run in such a way as to skim the surface of the water or to fly a short distance above it, thus eliminating many of the dangers both of flying and of high speed boating. The propeller is located at the bow of the boat and pulls the machine along instead of driving it. In this position the propeller drives the air blast through the radiator, making it possible to keep the engines cool for hours when the boat is running at slow speed on the water. The hull differs from that of the standard type in having a V shaped bottom, a feature designed to make it a smooth riding craft in choppy seas. Seats will be provided in the cockpit for four passengers, while the front seat will give room for the driver and one passenger, an arrangement similar to that of the four passenger automobile. As a matter of fact the control is arranged so that either of the occupants of the front seat can handle the machine.

Power is supplied by a Curtiss eight cylinder motor of the latest type. This motor, which is designed for operation at moderately high speeds, is rated at from 90 to 100 horsepower and shows 100 brake horsepower at 1,500 revolutions per minute. The weight of the motor, exclusive of radiator, is 310 pounds. During recent trials this machine was run at the rate of a mile a minute flying in the air and at the rate of fifty miles an hour when operated as a hydroaeroplane.

Ships of the Unchanging Line.

Perhaps you have watched the evolutions of the battleship fleet in formation and have wondered whether those great ships, preserving that perfect alignment and distance, must not be parts of one single illusion. If you are on board of them the illusion is still more striking. Perhaps you will not observe the slightest change in the line forward or aft in a day's time. One man in especial will never forget how, standing on the same spot on the bridge of the Rhode Island steaming northward from Peru, he saw the sun set three nights in succession over the identical funnel of the Maine, following behind. As the red ball sank into the South Pacific the smoke pipe split it evenly to the watcher's sight, three nights running!—New York Post.

Dress Trousers.

Wise men make a point of having two pairs of trousers to each evening coat, and one pair of trousers is of heavy cloth. Trousers of this kind are probably of the same thickness as those worn in the day. They last longer than trousers of thin cloth and look better all the time, because they are not easily knocked out of shape with continuous hard wear every evening. Knowing this, some men make a point of always having the trousers of their evening suit made of cloth a little thicker than that of the coat.—London Standard.

The Amende Honorable.

"So!" roared Bilkins, seizing Wiggins by the arm. "I've found you at last! You called me a jackass at the club the other day, and, by ginger, you've got to apologize."

"All right, Bilk," said Wiggins. "Anything to oblige. Lead me to the real jackass and I'll apologize to his face."—Harper's Weekly.

A Stern Censor.

An English censor once passed a play called "London Life." In the third act of the play the hero, entering a restaurant, calls for a chop and a jug of musty ale. Opposite this speech the censor wrote, "During Lent the order must be a glass of water and a plate of dry toast."

Man and His Muscles.

The total strength of all the muscles in the body of a strong man can be estimated at about 10,000 pounds. Apart from the voluntary muscles, which number over 500, there are infinite involuntary ones which are even too great to attempt to estimate.

Decorations.

"Why do you think so much of being decorated? It doesn't give you ability."

"No, but it makes people think I have some."—Pete Mele.

Art Collector's Economy.

A good story is told of the great virtuoso and generous, George Salting, says Mr. Thomas Stoddart in the New Witness. The collector hated spending money on anything save works of art. A friend met him once in a hat of unusual luster and remarked upon it. "Yes," said the millionaire; "my brother's widow found it among his things and thought it might be mine."

All straw hats go at reduced prices.
ROE EMERSON'S

A Queer Marriage Ceremony.

A queer marriage ceremony was that in Queen Elizabeth's reign, before the deaf and dumb alphabet was invented, between Thomas Flisby and Ursula Bridget. Ursula could talk fast enough, but Thomas was a deaf mute, and as it was required that promises should be exchanged in spoken words nobody knew how to manage the thing. Finally the bishop of London helped to devise a service by signs, and Thomas proceeded thus: Having first taken Ursula in his arms, he took her by the hand and put the nuptial ring on her finger. He then hid his right hand significantly on his heart and afterwards, putting their palms together, extended both his hands toward heaven. Having thus sued for divine blessing, he declared his purpose to live with Ursula till death should separate them by closing his eyelids with his fingers, digging the earth with his feet as though he wished to make a hole in the ground and then moving his arms and body as though he were tolling a funeral bell.

Curious Marine Tragedy.

On March 31, 1840, the pilotboat Coquette, cruising off Cape May, discovered a capsized schooner floating bottom up. A boarding party put off to the wreck, and some of the crew climbed up on the rounded bottom. Suddenly rappings were heard on the inside. Evidently some one was imprisoned in the hold. Saws and axes were brought, and a hole was cut in the schooner's bottom. But the attempt at rescue brought swift disaster. The imprisoned air that had sustained the captives rushed out, and the schooner began to sink rapidly. As the water rose on the inside one of the doomed sailors struggled near enough to the hole to cry out that they were five in all, one forward and four aft. The capsized vessel was the Russell, and they had been prisoners for five days. Then the water reached his lips, and the would-be rescuer scrambled into their yawl as the Russell sank, carrying the five men down with her.

Early Sport on the Thames.

Sport on the Thames in London's early days was more exciting than boat racing. In the twelfth century, for instance, the young "bloods" enjoyed a kind of "tilt the bucket" pastime and delighted the spectators. Thus William Fitz-Stephens, clerk to Thomas a Becket, on the rules of the game: "In the Easter holidays they play at a game resembling a naval engagement. A target is fixed to a tree trunk, which is fixed in the middle of the river, and in the prow of a boat driven along by oars a young man who is in it strikes the target with his lance. If in hitting it he breaks his lance and keeps his position unmoved he gains his point and attains his desire, but if his lance be not shivered he is tumbled into the river." It is comforting to learn, however, that the rules then allowed his friends to pick him up.—London Spectator.

It Moved Dr. Johnson.

William Law's "Serious Call" was the work that converted Dr. Johnson. "I became a sort of lax talker against religion," said the sage of Fleet street to Boswell, "until I went to Oxford, where I took up Law's 'Serious Call,' expecting to find it a dull book (as such books generally are) and perhaps to laugh at it. But I found Law quite an overmatch for me, and this was the first occasion of my thinking in earnest of religion."

Johnson once more pronounced the "Serious Call" to be the "finest piece of hortatory theology in any language." Law's masterpiece has also been highly praised not only by Wesley and Whitefield, but even by such avowed enemies of Christian orthodoxy as Gibbon and the late Sir Leslie Stephen.—Westminster Gazette.

Those Gift Cigars.

Hemmenhaw handed his best friend a cigar.

"Have a smoke," he said.

"Sure," said the friend.

"There, I'm glad that's off my mind!"

"Off your mind?"

"Yes. That cigar is the last of a box my wife gave me, and I will tell you in confidence I have been handing them out all day. You got the last. Ha, ha!"

"Well, the laugh is on you."

"On me?"

"Yes. I went with your wife to pick out those cigars, and they were the very best I could find in town."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Turkish Stamps.

Because of a passage in the Koran forbidding the making of images Turkish postage stamps have no picture, but bear instead the sign manual of the sultan, which is, in fact, an impression of his imperial hand. This signature is said to have had its origin with the Sultan Murad I, who on completing a treaty with the Italian republic of Ragusa in 1395 and being unable to sign his name applied ink to his open hand and stamped it upon the parchment.

Conscience.

Mrs. Knagg—Talk of conscience! I don't believe you have any idea of what conscience is. Mr. Knagg—Sure, I do. Conscience is that inward monitor that, when you're wrong, prompts you to think up an excuse for blaming some one else.—Connelors.

Reversed.

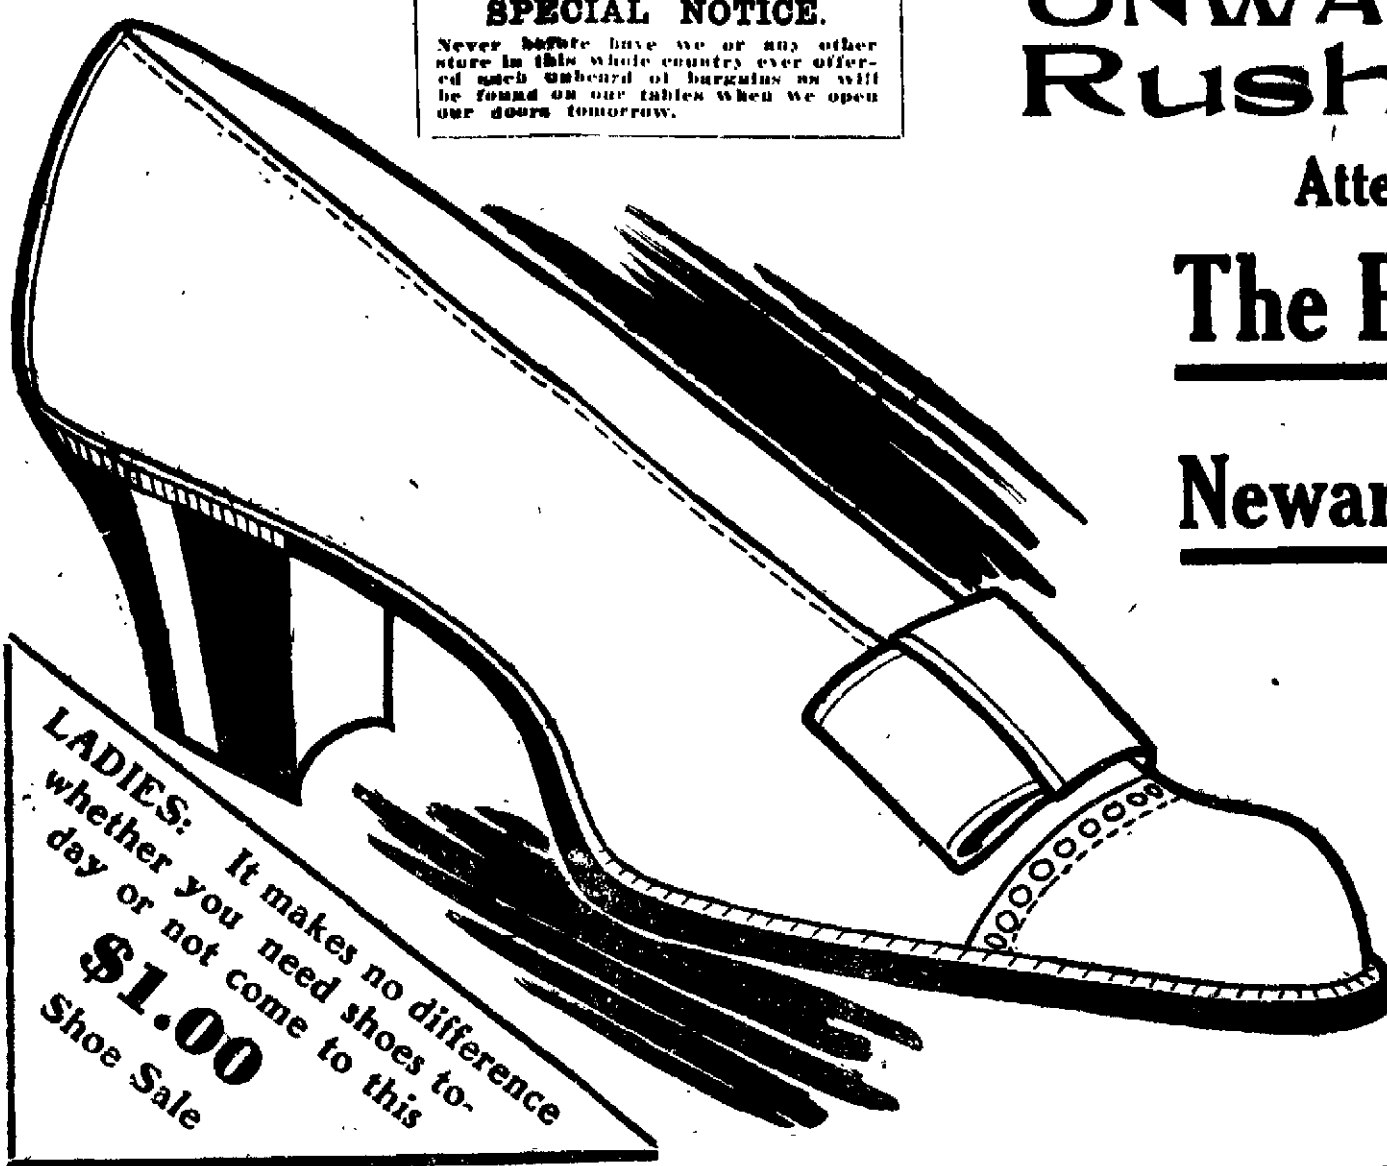

Greeble—Is that your baby? Crawford—No, sir. The possession is on the other side. He is not my baby. I'm his father.—Christian Register.

For American Industry

(Philadelphia Record.)

Notwithstanding our high tariff wall—higher than that of either Germany or France—British manufacturers manage yearly to sell us more of their wares than they are enabled to sell to their near-by German and French customers combined. Our wall is overleaped; protection does not protect. The shrewder manufacturers and traders of Great Britain do not expect to reap any permanent advantage from the proposed reduction of our tariff rates. They know from the long experience that the effect of tariff reduction, as soon as it becomes fairly operative, will be so to reduce the cost of production in the United States as to make this country a less favorable market for the sale of their goods. The better command of our markets, which will come as an incident of tariff revision, will at the same time make our manufacturers stronger competitors in all the open markets of the world.

It will take a little time to adjust ourselves to our new fiscal policy. The change came none too soon. We had already outgrown our "protective" swaddling clothes. We had overdone our over-taxed home market, and were obliged to find other purchasers for our surplus wares. We had shown in spite of pull-backs that our vast natural resources would compel for us an assured position among the great industrial and trading nations. The abandonment of our shut-in, self-sufficient policy we are satisfied will within the near coming years enable us to resume once more our place among the foremost of the carriers on the high seas. This is what our foremost competitors for world trade expect. They will not be disappointed.

THE RESPONSIBLE HIGHER-UP GENTRY

The editor of the Advocate certainly appreciates the congratulations he is receiving from contemporaries over the plain spoken denunciations in these columns against bluffer C. S. Gongwer of Cleveland and others of the higher-up type of gentry who are the responsible parties for this referendum petition scandal.

The exposure made Thursday of 7000 forged and spurious names to his Cleveland petitions is another gem in the sparkling crown of Gongwer.

The Advocate from the first has insisted that the men of the Gongwer type were not only the responsible parties for these fraudulent referendum petitions, but that they were engaged in a concerted plot of momentous dimensions to make war on the Governor's administration and the reform measures he stands for in the interest of the people and progressive humanity.

A SENATOR ON THE JOB.

The Ashland Press calls attention to the great demand on Senator Pomerene for addresses during the present summer. But uniformly he has declined all invitations on the ground that his official duties demand that he remain in Washington while the tariff and currency questions are under consideration. It is refreshing to have a United States Senator from Ohio who sticks as close to Washington when Congress is in session as Senator Pomerene does. Thursday and Friday of last week he declined invitations to make addresses at the following functions:

Guernsey County Fall Festival and Old Home Week at Cambridge, October 2.

Stanton Monument Association at unveiling of Steuben-Clark-Wilson portraits, Steubenville, July 25.

Annual Convention of National Association of Railway Commissioners, Washington, D. C., October 28.

Tenth annual session of rural letter carriers of Ohio, Wooster August 4, 5, 6.

Mass meeting, Buchtel, Athens county, in honor of Governor Cox, July 19.

Stroup reunion, Highland county, last week in August.

Harvest Home picnic, Washington county, last Thursday in August.

Annual legislative reunion at Cedar Point the second week in August.

Senator Pomerene had previously declined urgent invitations to make addresses at the Perry Centennial celebration at Put-in-Bay, the unveiling of a monument at Fort Recovery in honor of battle fought there, the dedication of the Massillon postoffice, the Letter Carriers' Annual convention at Gallion, the United Commercial Travelers' Annual Meet at Mansfield the 13th, Annual Convention of Postoffice clerks at Columbus, and the Ohio State Bar Association meeting at Put-in-Bay.

Our Rude Language. There are great differences between the richness and poorness of words in the different countries. Japan is certainly richer in its words than England. Just for example we have more than nine words for the word "I."

The emperor alone calls himself "Chin," and all his subjects call themselves "Watakuhi," "Washi," "Ore," "Boku," "Sessai," "Soregashi," "Ware," "Yo," etc., according to circumstances. The second or third person changes as much as the first person, "I," and all the verbs accordingly. When I started to learn the English, first time, I asked my American teacher, "What shall I call myself before the emperor?" He said, "I."

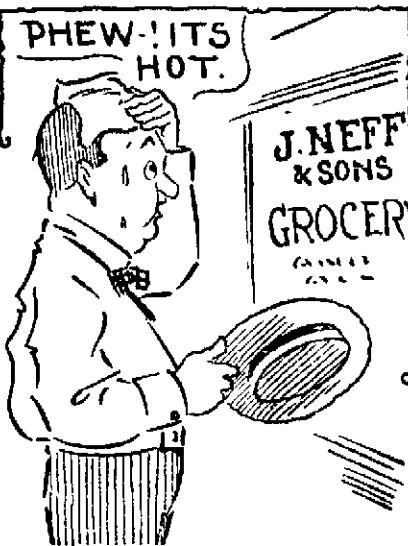

"Then what shall I say before my parents?"

"What shall I say before my men friends? And before my women friends?"

"I."

I was quite astonished and said: "How simple, but how rude is the English language!"—Yoshio Markino in Atlantic.

Three Months Without Sun.

In the valley of the Lyn, in England, there is a quaint little hamlet called Middleham, where for three months in the year the sun is not seen. The cluster of houses forming the hamlet is surrounded on all sides by hills so steep and high that from November until February the sun does not rise high enough to be seen over their tops. The first appearance of the sun is eagerly looked for, and as it is first seen on Feb. 14 the inhabitants call it their valentine. If the day should be foggy or cloudy, so that it cannot be seen, there is great disappointment. For the first few days after the 14th the sun is only seen for a very short time, but as the sun rises higher in the heavens the time it is in sight increases daily until its height is reached when it gradually begins to fade from view again until in November it entirely vanishes from sight for another three months.

Japanese Mirrors.

It is only during a comparatively short time that the Japanese have known glass as we do. When the first railroads were built passengers in the coaches often put their heads through the glass, supposing the frames of the windows to be empty, and the railroad company at length pasted pictures on the glass to call attention to the fact that a solid substance was behind them. The masses of the Japanese today do not know the mirror as it is known in the west. The richer people have one mirror. Indeed, but usually the glass used in the mirror, sold to the populace is not quicksilvered, being merely well polished. As for cut glass, it is practically unknown in the island, and glass drinking cups are rare.—Harper's Weekly.

It isn't every fellow who can hug a delusion without getting engaged to it.

Brasses and Bronzes of the Hindus.

The brass and bronze trade is kept alive by the religious customs of the Hindus, who are not allowed to use wooden and earthenware vessels freely, and brass and bronze are to them as important as glass and china to the westerners. Almost all Hindu utensils are of brass, copper or bronze, and it is the custom to present the female portion of a Hindu family with a valuable batterie de cuisine, made either of brass or copper, and a still existing Hindu ceremony is that of carrying the utensils in a procession at the wedding. The result of this custom is that almost all the platters, trays, bowls, nut-crackers and all brass and copper utensils are most beautifully ornamented, and there are lovely combinations of brass and copper and silver and copper. All Hindu women used to have lovely brass caskets covered with ornamental calligraphy, manufactured in Malabar, in which they kept their jewels, but these are fast being replaced by the vulgar English japanned dispatch box.

The Pumpkin Planter.

A gentleman from New York city who had spent all his life in a 2 by 4 flat decided that before he reached the gray hair stage he would renew his youth in the country. He had for years been a devoted worshiper of the pumpkin which made into pie, so he decided that his ten acres should be devoted to this yellow "fruit." One warm day in May a neighbor, conscious of his superior knowledge and of the shortcomings of the back to the land converts, strolled over to the new farmer's place and leaned over the fence. Williams was peeling his undershirt and was painfully manipulating a spade. He was working on the sixth of a row of holes that were about two feet in diameter and three feet deep. "Whatcha doin'?" inquired the neighborly one.

"I'm getting ready to plant those darned pumpkins," said the weary Williams. "And you just bet that next year I'm going to save smaller ones or buy a ditch digger to plant 'em with." —Country Gentleman.

Uncle Walt's PhilosophyThe Loafer.

Here the summer loafer staves in his pockets are his hands, and the boss of all the rangers comes and cries: "I am needing tobaccos now, but to read and men to play, and I'll feed them till they're broke, and then I'll wag 'em with a whip, and the month or by the day if you'll only wield a pitcher's or a spade, and you'll draw your pay in cash, and you'll have the best of both worlds, and a schooner every hour of summer." Says the idle corner shaver: "I would so, but I'd never, but my d-m-m-granny made me take a vow that I'd never, never toil with the nerve destroying soil that I'd never risk my life behind a plow. For her end's brother Jules waited behind a pair of mules plowing up a fertile meadow by the sea, and the mules reared out behind with their heels and knocked him blind, and my granny feared a kindred fate for me." Said the grandfather: "You have always an excuse, you loafer, who are are rotting in the sun and the hottest man who works to support the family think that the country on the bluff, it's government, were worth a pint of punch, every loafer would be beat a rock in jail, while the sheriff flocked his mudrit with a switch!"

The Human Procession

In the lower East Side of New York, and especially among the Russian Jews, the name of Rose Pastor Stokes is one to conjure with.

The life story of this young woman, famed throughout the world as a Socialist and a social settlement worker, is more romantic than any fiction.

"Beautiful Rose, the Cigar Maker; or, From Poverty to Millions," is the title of a book by Miss Libbey, which is a story. But even Miss Libbey's readers, although highly imaginative, would probably balk at such a plot as being too improbable.

Mrs. Stokes will celebrate a double anniversary today, for this is the thirty-fourth anniversary of her birth at Augustava, Suwalk, Russia, and the eighth anniversary of her marriage to James Graham Phelps Stokes, scion of one of the most aristocratic families of New York, and a millionaire.

Mrs. Stokes is a Jewess, the daughter of Jacob and Anna Wieslander. The persecutions to which they were subjected led the Wieslanders to shake the dust of Russia from their feet and seek refuge in England. Rose's youth was spent in the ghetto of London, and for three years she attended the Jewish Free School in that city. This was about the extent of her educational opportunities, yet today few college women are her equals in learning.

She was only eleven when she first set foot on American soil. Cleveland was her first home, and there for thirteen years she followed the trade of cigar maker. They were years of hard labor and poor pay. But the weary treadmill of unceasing toil did not grind the life and hope out of the young Jewess. While her nimble fingers plied their allotted tasks, her brain was busy with thought and filled with visions of the future. While her companions dreamed of escaping from the factory by marrying wealth, Rose thought only of the welfare of all the workers. Unconsciously she assimilated socialist ideas and began to express her theories of paper. While she was still employed in the cigar factory she began to contribute articles, in Yiddish, to the Jewish Daily News of New York. These articles, which were not of a socialist nature, became immediately popular, and in 1903 she was offered and accepted the post of associate editor of the New York paper. In that capacity she served as mentor and guide to the Jewish girls of New York.

It was while employed as a journalist, and in welfare work among her people, that she met J. G. Phelps Stokes. That young man, by reason of birth, breeding, wealth, and rare intellectual gifts, was the matrimonial "catch" of New York. That he chose to spend most of his time among the poor was considered an eccentricity, which many Fifth Avenue maidens were quite willing to undertake to cure.

The marriage of Mr. Stokes and the Jewish cigar maker, which took place at Noroton, Conn., July 18, 1905, was the social sensation of the year. Since then Mrs. Stokes has continued her newspaper work on a Yiddish Social list daily, has led in many movements for the benefit of working girls, and has engaged earnestly in the propaganda of socialism. The possession of great wealth has not alienated her from the class to which she belonged before her marriage, but has only given her greater power to help.

It takes a middling good man to make both ends meet.

Some chronic sufferers from rheumatism are human barometers. They can recognize by the growling pains in their tender joints and muscles the slightest increase of moisture in the air, even a change in the direction of the wind.

Such a condition of supersensitiveness is always attended with thin blood. The watery, poison-laden fluid that fills the arteries must be built up and purified before there can be any progress toward permanent recovery. The problem of medicine is not to cure a single attack of rheumatism but to eradicate it from the system and strengthen the body to resist another attack. This can be done by building up the blood.

Mr. Israel Dearborn, of Corinna, Maine, says: "I had always had more or less rheumatism in my back and in my legs from the knees down, but it was not until a few years ago that I began to suffer severely from the disease. Then I had such a severe attack that I was confined to the house for two weeks and was unable to use my legs. I also had pains in my arms. The pains became so intense that I could hardly move and I had to lie down most of the time. I had been sick for six months when some one recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me. They quickly relieved me and drove the disease entirely out of my system."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an excellent tonic for the blood and are absolutely safe. Our booklet, "Building Up the Blood," is free on request and should be read by every rheumatic sufferer.

TRICKS DOCTOR TO SAVE HIM

J. D. Byrne, a San Francisco business man, for a long time President of the California Pig Products Co., heard that a friend, a young physician, was fading under a hard case of Bright's Disease. The doctor, becoming thoroughly discouraged, induced him to consent to use something he would take to him.

Byrne went to the nearest drug store, bought a bottle of Fulton's Renal Compound, soaked the label off and took it to the patient. He began to mend and Byrne got him another bottle and still another.

When recovery was in sight he was told it was Fulton's Renal Compound. And this is not the first case of this kind. A number of cases have been reported in which the patients were so certain nothing could be done that they too had to be deceived to put them in the way of recovery.

There is no escape whatever from the fact that Bright's Disease is being cured by Fulton's Renal Compound. If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at F. D. Hall's, Druggist.

THEY'LL NOT FORGET NIGHT OF JULY 13

If they live to reach the century mark Charles E. Hollander, Wm. A. Dorey and David Manning will not forget the night of July 13, 1913. It was an "unlucky" thirteen to them.

Having been cooped up all night in an electric car near Hanover while the storm raged and covered the track with earth, the three men started at daylight through the mud for a farm house where they obtained breakfast, followed by a hike to Newark. Mr. Weinat's auto picked the trio up on the way and the helped some. While tramping the muddy road Mr. Manning stepped ahead and took a snap shot of his companions. The result is here offered in evidence.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

The Uses of Fruit.

A healthy person should always eat fruit in the raw state. For those who are ill or delicate the fruit should be stewed. The acids which are sometimes present in very large quantities in apples—especially the sour varieties—render them rather injurious for the stomach, and the sweet and juicy varieties are more easily digested. Apples are also beneficial in diabetes and are more digestible when stewed.

The juice of the apple is a very beneficial drink.

In general, pears are not easily digested, as they contain hard, gritty and indigestible granules. They are more digestible by cooking. Apricots and peaches should only be eaten when perfectly ripe, in which manner they are easily digested. Among peaches the free stone varieties are best digested. The cling stones are not to be recommended for weak stomachs. Fresh raw plums, prunes and green gages are well digested when they are ripe and tender. However, plums and prunes, even when taken in large quantities, are more healthful than green gages. Cherries and grapes, too, are two of the most beneficial fruits, and both may be freely partaken of in season.

Now Are the Days Children Need Care

Summer Heat Dangerous to Little Ones Whose Bowels are Neglected.

A mother cannot do better for her children than to teach them from their earliest days regularity of the bowels. Regularity can be promoted without the child knowing it by watching its food and by so varying the food that all the elements of digestion are used, when nature will do the rest. The future health of the child depends upon this.

But try as you will there are times when the little one will become constipated and bilious. In hot weather immediate attention is necessary, as many serious diseases result from stuffed-up bowels. Don't give salts or cathartics or purgatives, as they are too harsh, but give a gentle, pleasant-tasting bowel stimulant like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been used by the children of this as well as a former generation, and thousands of families are proud to speak well of it, among whom we can mention Mrs. Louise Reynolds, 909 Jackson St., Lynchburg, Va., who is glad to recommend it, and Mr. Chas. W. Allen, Manor, Texas, who writes that he often felt 100 years old, but feels younger now than his years.

Every druggist sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a large bottle. It will cure constipation and biliousness in young or old, break up a cold and stop summer diarrhoea by tiding the bowels of the poisons and germs that cause the trouble. It is a grand family laxative, with valuable tonic properties.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington street, Monticello, Ill. (adv.)

BOARD AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR FIRE ESCAPES

Contracts were let by four members of the board of education in a short session Thursday night, for erecting fire escapes in accordance with specifications of the architect and with approval of the state department of inspection at the North Fourth, East Main and Maholin street buildings.

Representatives of the Columbus Heating & Ventilating company were present and took up with board members the matter of repairing the furnace of the East Main street school. The contract for repairs was awarded to the Columbus firm for $200.

The Columbia Iron & Wire Works of Canton, O., was awarded the fire escape contracts at $85 for the East Main building, $305 for North Fourth and $565 for Maholin.

Miss Frances Thurst, who holds the record for years in service as a teacher in public schools, presented her resignation to the board, signifying her intention to retire after 39 years of active teaching a large part of which time has been spent at old Central building in West Church street.

Members of the board accepted the resignation with regret, and took occasion to express appreciation of the long and faithful service of Miss Thurst to the public.

Vice President W. E. Miller, Secretary Haight and Members Rank and Dewey constituted the quorum Thursday night.

Little Benny's Notebook

A little automobile was standing not doing anything down the street yesterday and a man was standing on the sidewalk alongside of it, and I went behind the man and skinned the thing which makes the horn go, with the horn made a fierce noise and the man jumped, saying, 'Hay, don't do that, I'll sell you the hole machine for 5 dollars, but don't do that.'

And I went home and pop was standing down the front steps, and I said, 'Pop, do you see that man down there.'

'Wat, the wun in front of the auto, sed pop, and I sed, 'Yes, he wants to sell it for 5 dollars.'

'Don't talk throo yure hat, its a noo hat, sed pop.'

'I aint, I sed, he duz, he sed he did. Well, lets go down and tawa it ovir with him, jest for fun, sed pop, I havent anything spesbil to do and a krazy man is awfin perfectly elegant kumjiny.'

'So we went down, and pop sed to the man, Good afternoon, thats a odd looking little krait youve got there, you dont by any chance want to sell it for 5 dollars, do you.'

'Thats jest wat I want to do, sed the man, the darn machine is moar trubel than its werth, it kasts me a small fortchun evry week, and if sun poor boob awfired me 5 dollors for it rite now Id take it.

'Yaving the distinkshin of poor boob, pop, Ill give you 5 dollors for it, jest to prove you wont take it.'

'O, Ill take it awl rite, sed the man, but I warn you how sharpr than a serpents tooth it as to have a bum machine.'

'Heres the 5, sed pop, and he took a 5 dollor bill out of his pocket and gave it to the man, and the man put it in his pocket and startid to wawk away, saying, 'Ill still kunsider I got the best of the bargin, but treet it kindly for my sake. And pop reetched ovir and maid the horn go, saying, 'I dont no wether Im krazy or hes krazy, but anyway Ive got a machine.'

'Maybe you have, but not that wun, sed a big fat man, kumjiny up jest then. And he jumped in the awtimobee and pushed sumthing with his foot and the neckst thing we noo the awtimobee wasent there, awn akkount of beeing eround the kornir.'

'Now I no, sed pop, Im the wun thats krazy.'

'Yes sir, I sed.

'Poor boob was rite, sed pop.'

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots,
How to Remove Easily.

Heres a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength, from your druggist, and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

ON EXCHANGE OF

B. & O. STOCK

Baltimore, July 18.—Commenting on the transfer of $38,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock by the Union Pacific railroad for about $12,000,000 of Baltimore and Ohio stock by the Pennsylvania railroad, President Daniel Willard, of the Baltimore and Ohio, said:

'There is no reason to suppose that the Baltimore and Ohio will lose anything by the large exchange of stock ownership, and it is not likely that it will gain anything by the arrangement. Its policy in the future will continue as it has been administered in the past.'

'Baltimore will continue to be the chief Atlantic port of the B. & O. This will not be actuated by sentimental motives only, but it will be because it is for the best interests of the property to do so.'

BACHELORS LEAD IN CRIME 3 TO 1

Unmarried Criminals Far Outnumber Married Ones.

THREE-FOURTHS UNDER 30.

Statistics Show That Married Men Attempt Suicide More Frequently Than Unmarried Ones—Single Women
Criminals More Numerous.

New York.—Many more unmarried than married men commit crimes, according to the report of Henry D. Sayer, chief clerk of the district attorney's office. The report shows that in 1912 there were 789 convictions of married men in general sessions and in the criminal branch of the supreme court and that there were 2,068 convictions of unmarried men. There were 96 convictions of married women and 100 convictions of unmarried women.

Records show that in the last nine years there have been 18,406 convictions of unmarried men, while among men who had at some time led a bride to the altar there were but 7,670 convictions. The unmarried men excel in almost every crime on the calendar. The most notable exception is in the case of attempted suicide. Last year the ratio was three married men to one unmarried.

The report also shows that about three-fourths of the men who are brought into court are under thirty years of age. Of the 2,857 men convicted last year 940 were under the age of twenty and 1,278 were between twenty-one and thirty years old. After the age of thirty the ratio gradually decreases, there being but five men over seventy who last year were convicted of any crime. Out of 26,079 persons convicted in the last nine years 11,052 were between the ages of twenty-one and thirty and 8,293 were between fifteen and twenty years.

Among the women two-thirds of those convicted were under thirty. It is also apparent from the report that in the last nine years there has been a gradual increase in the number of young men of criminal tendencies, the number of convictions of male criminals under the age of thirty having increased from 1,700 in 1904 to 2,200 in 1912. On the other hand, the number of convictions of men over the age of thirty has remained about stationary.

The report shows that the office disposed of 6,651 actions during the year. There were 3,023 convictions in general sessions and the supreme court, of which 2,283 were upon pleas of guilty and 640 upon verdicts after trial. There were 321 trials that resulted in acquittal.

There were more convictions for murder in the first degree than in any other year in the history of the country. Thirteen persons were convicted of first degree murder, while the highest number appearing in the records of other years is eight. It is also worthy of note that for the first time on record in this county four men were jointly tried and each found guilty of murder in the first degree.

The average sentence imposed was five years and six months, and the total state prison terms amounted to 3,601 years. The longest sentences were for burglary in the first degree. There has been a gradual increase in the length of sentences imposed since 1904, when the average was four years and six months. The most frequent crime was grand larceny, with 690 convictions. Next came burglary, with 492 convictions.

READING BRAIN OF DEAD MAN?

Believed Thoughts Were Visible.

Strange Request in Will.

Cambridge, Mass.—Scientists in the Harvard Medical school are trying to read the brain of the late Dr. Marries Howe Richardson, ex-member of faculty of that institution. The examinations are being conducted secretly in the neuropathological department and under the direction of Dr. E. E. Southard.

Dr. Richardson was a firm believer that thoughts made definite lines in the brain, and the present examination is being conducted in accordance with his wishes as expressed in his will. He believed that a person's thoughts were recorded and were at the time of thinking visible on the outer walls of the cerebrum. He held that if these lines were read and the seat of the thought located it would make it possible to correct defects in the brain by surgical operations.

Overladen Apple Trees.

Hutchinson, Kan.—Because the apples are so thick on the trees in the big Reno county orchards gangs of men are being hired to go through the orchards and knock green apples from the trees. This is necessary, the fruit growers explain, to prevent the boughs from breaking down under the weight of the growing fruit.

Dog Stops Court Case.

Walla Walla, Wash.—Leslie G. Korkman's dog Othner stopped a case in the superior court while he caught a mouse. The dog is a fox terrier and was in court with his master. The sight of a fat mouse was too much. Court officials added him, and the case was resumed.

Getting Gray! Just Apply A Little Sage Tea Tonight

Sage Mixed With Sulphur
Restores Natural Color
and Lustre to Hair.

Why suffer the handicap of looking old. Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance.

Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use; but listen, avoid preparations put up by druggists as they usually use too much sulphur, which makes the hair sticky. Get "Wyeth's" which can always be depended upon to darken beautifully and is the best thing known to remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

By using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair. It does it so naturally and evenly—you moisten a sponge or soft brush, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time, which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored and it becomes glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger. Hall's Drug Store, 10 No. Side Square, agent.

U. S. TROOPERS AT THE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 18.—The Chattanooga Encampment association is prepared to announce with authority of the War department that two full regiments of United States troops will be at Ft. Oglethorpe for the 17th national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in September.

The regiments that will be here are the Eleventh cavalry, already stationed at Ft. Oglethorpe, and the Seventeenth infantry, stationed at Ft. McPherson, Atlanta. The Eleventh cavalry is recruited to 700 men while the Seventeenth infantry is recruited to 800, making a total of 1,500 men.

Special parades and drills will be given by these regiments during the encampment for the entertainment of the visiting veterans and their friends.

The Eleventh cavalry is now on an itinerary through the battlefields of Virginia, but Secretary of War Garrison assures that local encampment association that it will be back in Chattanooga before the G. A. R. encampment.

MELLEN RESIGNS N. H. PRESIDENCY

New York, July 18.—Charles S. Mellen has tendered his resignation as President of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company and all its allied or subsidiary companies, including the various railroads, trolley lines and water lines which had become part of the New Haven system under his management.

Announcement of Mr. Mellen's resignation, which is to take effect at the pleasure of the New Haven board, but, "in no event later than October 1 next," followed a long meeting of the directors, most of whom, including William Rockefeller and J. P. Morgan, were present.

The brief announcement of Mr. Mellen's proposed retirement, couched in less than 50 words, was the only official statement issued. None of the directors would supplement by so much as a word and Mr. Mellen steadfastly denied himself to interviewers.

Millions Spent By Foreigners for American Products

Washington, July 18.—Russia is the largest purchaser of American agricultural machinery. Export figures of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce show that $10,000,000 worth of such machinery was sent to Russia during the fiscal year just ended, against $7,000,000 Canada, $6,500,000 to Argentina, $4,000,000 to Germany and $3,500,000 to France. The exports of this class of manufacturers to Russia exceeded any other class of trade.

A new record for the foreign trade of the United States was made in the fiscal year 1913 just closed, set forth in figures which the department of commerce made public today. Both imports and exports during the year were considerably greater than ever before—imports aggregating $1,812,621,160 and exports $2,465,761,910.

For the preceding year the figures were $1,635,264,931 and $2,261,490,900. The total foreign commerce for 1913 totalled $1,278,000,000 as compared with $857,734,343 for 1912 an increase of $420,265,727.

FORAKER SAYS MULHALL IS LIAR

Cincinnati, July 18.—Former Senator Joseph B. Foraker has issued a statement in which he declares that he would insist on being heard before the senatorial committee which is hearing the testimony of the self-confessed lobbyist, Martin Mulhall. Mr. Foraker said that he would read to the committee the letters that passed between himself and Mulhall and show that the latter had placed a false construction on them.

In the statement Mr. Foraker said that his acquaintance with Mulhall was only a casual one, but that at one time he did invite Mulhall to meet him in this city. This, Mr. Foraker said, was when he was a candidate for the presidential nomination and Mulhall had written him that he could be of assistance.

The statement in general is a categorical denial of wrongdoing in the former senator's acquaintance with Mulhall and in several places he brands the lobbyist as a liar.

Readers' Viewpoint

Mr. Editor:

The people of Texas, a part of our city are asking for protection of the city streets. The county commissioners put a breaker above Valandigham street bridge which has caused the creek to change its course and it is now washing the city streets. It has washed out three streets and one alley and continued heavy rains will no doubt take the fourth street out. We have asked council to protect our property but some of the councilmen say they must protect their own streets and property. For this reason we are asking for help and the tax payers of Texas want to know what they pay taxes for, if not for the purpose of keeping their streets in repair and protection to their property.

OPEN MEETING OF THE VETERANS

For the regular open meeting in G. A. R. hall Sunday afternoon, the committee of war veterans has prepared the following program which should prove of interest to friends of the post:

Song by audience.
Invocation, Chaplain Barr.
Music, the Watkins family.
Army reminiscences, Comrade Matt Reizger.
Duet, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Miller.
Army reminiscences, Comrade McKinley.
Solo, T. A. Jones.
Address, Rev. Mr. Green, subject: "The Institution You Should Sustain."
Music, the Watkins family.
Short talk by Captain Bausch.
Ladies' trio.
Closing song, "Home, Sweet Home."

City Fathers and City Mothers

ROMULUS and Remus were sitting under a tree looking somewhat peeved.

"What's the matter?" asked Minerva, who chanced to be passing and scenting an opportunity to make peace. "I hope you two haven't fallen out again."

"Oh, no," said Romulus, irritably. "Nothing of that sort has happened just at present. If anything, we need now to stand by each other in order to protect ourselves."

"Goodness!" exclaimed Minerva, looking around apprehensively. "The Senators haven't it in for you again, have they?"

"I can't say as it is the Senators exactly, though before we see the end of this, I guess the Senate will get mixed up with it."

"An invasion?" ventured Minerva.

"An intrusion," declared Romulus. "And one that no man of spirit will endure."

"What is it?" inquired Minerva, her curiosity a-fire.

"I think I may be said to be the original City Father," began Romulus, with some pride.

"You wouldn't have been the only one, if you hadn't hit me with an axe," spoke up Remus. "To be sure, I got laid out before Rome was laid out; but I was in at the beginning of the deal, and I think I ought to have some credit."

"You keep quiet," said Romulus, "or I'll use the axe again. At any rate, I started the fashion of City Fathers; and it has survived pretty well, I must say."

"To be sure it has," soothingly rejoined Minerva. "And I don't see any signs of its dying out. I don't see why you should feel troubled about it."

"I am not afraid of its dying out. It's too profitable. It's the recent addition to it that I am objecting to."

"Addition?"

"Yes. Haven't you heard the latest from the States? Now that women are getting the suffrage, they are being elected to office; and already in some towns there are city mothers as well as city fathers."

"Well! I'm delighted!" exclaimed Minerva, her face beaming with pleasure.

"Delighted?"

"Of course. Think what that means in the way of progress! Think of the better city governments we will have! Think what opportunities it opens out for women."

"It's no place for women," grumbled Romulus. "The idea of a woman running for office and getting all mixed up with politics."

"If politics haven't been fit for women to be in them, it's high time they were made fit. If her coming shouldn't do any thing but clean up the political arena and make it sweet and wholesome, her advent into it will do untold good."

"I don't see why women can't leave men's work alone," growled Remus.

"Who defined man's work?" asked Minerva. "Man, himself, didn't he?"

"I have an idea as the original City Father, my influence had been felt in city government," said Romulus.

"If the present specimen of city government is the result, I don't think you have much to be proud of," rejoined Minerva. "I should think you would welcome some new workers."

"I object to women forcing themselves in where they don't belong," replied Romulus.

"And I suppose your reason for their not belonging is because they have never belonged. You'll have to speed up your think-wheels a bit, Romulus, or you'll be left so far behind the procession, you'll never know you were ever in it."

So saying, Minerva passed on to tell the good news to the suffrage enthusiasts on Olympus.

BECKER'S PRESS AGENT WRITES A CONFESSION TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY

New York, July 18.—The police graft situation was brought to the front again when Charles B. Platt, Jr., who was the so-called press agent of former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, submitted to District Attorney Whitman a five-page typewritten confession of facts relating to the alleged graft between the police "system" and the underworld. Mr. Whitman assigned one of his assistants to talk with Platt, who is under indictment on a perjury charge, with a view to determining if Platt's statement is worthy of grand jury investigation.

Platt's "squeal" is reported to contain the information long sought by the prosecutor. An inspector, a civilian attaché at police headquarters and several minor officials are said to be mentioned in Platt's statement. The statement is declared to tell also of alleged participation in graft by Becker, who is now under sentence of death at Sing Sing for the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal just a year ago.

It's a pretty good faith for a woman's elbow to be sharper than her tongue.

CIRCULATING MORE PETITIONS FOR REFERENDUM

Solicitor Having Hard Time Securing Signatures Owing to Scandal Over Fraudulent Petitions On Workmen's Compensation Act.

More referendum petitions are being circulated in Licking county. This time the petitions are for referendum on the "Finerock Students Voting Measure," and on the "Loyd State Budget Measure." These petitions were put into circulation Friday morning and are in the hands of W. D. Gilbert of this city who is doing the soliciting.

All petitions for referendum are now generally discredited all over the state and most of the United States because of the fraudulent scandal revealed in the fraudulent petitions circulated for referendum on the Workmen's Compensation Act. The "Finerock Students Voting Measure" is Senate Bill No. 58 and was signed by Governor Cox after it was passed at the recent session of the legislature. It provided that students whose permanent residence is not in the town where they are going to school shall be denied the right of suffrage while they are attending school in that town.

Its purpose is to prevent the large influx of students in the college towns from deciding local questions especially the liquor question. The other petition is for referendum Senate Bill 227, the "Loyd State Budget Measure." Its purpose is to establish a budget system by which the governor is empowered to appoint a committee when he sees fit to probe the conditions of business houses and investigate their books. This bill was signed also by Governor Cox and is generally considered expedient as it affords a method by which the state can penetrate the otherwise unknown conditions of business firms. When W. D. Gilbert was interviewed by the Advocate reporter today he had only two signatures which manifest the attitude of the public toward all such petitions. He stated that a manufacturers organization was back of the State Budget Commission petition and that a man had come to this city and had employed him to solicit the signatures for both petitions. He did not divulge any names.

In Society

Wednesday evening last being the occasion of Mrs. Bader's birthday anniversary, a surprise party was given for her by her friends of Shell Beach, and guests of the hotel. The nature of the party was a trip around Buckeye Lake in the Alert, which was chartered for the evening, and a dance at the hotel. After the dance a Dutch lunch was served by Mr. Holder.

A pretty informal evening party was given on Thursday by Miss Irene Simpson at her home in West Main street, honoring Miss Marion Kirkpatrick, who leaves soon for her new home in Baltimore, Md. The evening was spent with games and the souvenir was awarded to Miss Grace Jones.

The guests were: Misses Faye Stewart, Grace Jones, Justine Jones, Mary Devere, Gladys Ayres, Gertrude Hall, Ruth Zentmyer, Carlo Zentmyer, Ethel Hull, Mary Simpson and Marion Kirkpatrick.

In honor of Miss Kathryn Colihan of Perry, Ia., who is the guest of Miss Leona Eagan, Miss Mayme Dolan entertained forty guests with a dinner party at the Wells cottage at Buckeye Lake Park on Thursday evening.

The tables were placed in the dining room and were prettily arranged with candles. At seven o'clock a three course dinner was served to the following: Misses Kathryn Colihan, Marie Gilbert, Leona Eagan, Nan Dwyer, Grace Egan, Josephine Egan, Edith Kureth, Claire Kureth, Hazel Kirk, Verna Harding, Catherine Shaugnessy, Mary Balzer, Helen Ginter, Loretta Dolan, Anne Moran, Florence McCarthy, Jeannette Ross, Messrs. John Mohlenpau, Rollin Baird, Leon Shinn, Wayne Day, Beryl Shaw, Leo Trace, Charles W. Trace, Louis Bentz, Walter Reese, Carl Jones, Sylvester Nolan, Ed Fallon, Edward Gilbert, David Denschebeck, Albert Dyer, John Dolan, Frank Kwalid, Clyde Sensabaugh and Charles Dyer of Mansfield.

Mrs. Edward Gilbert, sr. and Mrs. James Dolan assisted in entertaining the guests and the evening was spent in dancing and boating. Punch was dispensed during the hours.

Obituary

THOMAS F. GRIFFITH.

After an illness of three months, Mr. Thomas F. Griffith died Friday morning at 10:45 o'clock of anemia at the home of his sister, Miss Martha Griffith, 217 North Fifth street.

Funeral services will be held at the home of Miss Griffith Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock with F. E. Holloway of Plymouth Congregational church officiating, and interment will be made at Homer, O., on Sunday.

Mr. Griffith, who was born north-east of Newark April 7, 1818, located at Homer while a young man, and was very successful as an agriculturist. Early in life he married Miss Sarah McMullin, who passed away four years ago. Of this union six children were born, four of whom survive: Charles Griffith, Mrs. Martha Kuhn and Mrs. Charlotte Bruce, all of Homer, and William of Chatham. He also leaves two sisters, Miss Martha Griffith of Newark and Mrs. Jones of Dawn, Mo.

About two years ago Mr. Griffith retired from active service and came to Newark to live. He had a large circle of friends here and in the vicinity of Homer where the greater part of his life was passed. His death will be sincerely mourned.

PERRY F. JONES.

Perry F. Jones was born November 8, 1895 and departed this life July 12, 1913, aged 17 years, 8 months and 4 days. He leaves to mourn his death a father and mother, Mr. Charles and Mrs. Lolly Jones, a grandfather and two grandmothers, three brothers, Clarence, Laurence and Lester, three sisters, Elsie May, Nelly Elizabeth and Glenne Margaret. Eleven uncles and eight aunts, besides many cousins and friends.

Another String is Broken.

Our family once was a musical instrument containing eight strings, which altogether played that sweet tone, of a "Home, Sweet Home." But now three strings are broken, and six are left for a token. That the music from them shall still vibrate.

Until all have passed through Heaven's gate, Then altogether, we shall play forever more. That sweet song that we all adore, And no better tone will come from any throne.

As from Heaven's, our Home, Sweet Home, Sweet Home.

—A Friend, D. P. V.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly aided us during the long illness and death of our dear and beloved mother.

Putting the Sickroom in Shape.

Disinfect the sickroom of every essential. Leave nothing that can be knocked off or over or that clatters or rattles. Remove rugs from the bare floor, but keep a small one handy for the patient's feet. Cover a carpet with a smooth sheet of something washable. In case of contagion take away draperies and pictures. Have the bedstead light and firm standing, not too low, single or of three quarter size. Set it so there is free passage all round it, but not so light glares into sick eyes. Place the head at least six inches from the wall and set beside it a small solid table. A couch or single bed, a spacious dresser, a bigger table and at most three chairs are complete equipment. Give up the dresser to the patient's clothes, bedclothes, towels, table covers and so forth. Have three changes of clothes, a dressing gown a light shawl, slippers, many clean handkerchiefs. A dressing room attached is a godsend—next to a bathroom easily reached. Lacking either, a washstand fully furnished is necessary also an alcohol or oil stove for hot water.—Harper's Household Handbook.

Selecting Men.

"Seeing" men is an art. It amounts almost to second sight. Often in a business "line" some man makes his way mysteriously and rapidly to the top or near to it. He does not seem to have greater trading ability than many others, nor has he been favored by a larger capital or a more magnetic personality. But he rises. His faculty of "seeing" men has been the magical force. It is no trick at all to discover the man who has triumphantly made a record, who is already a personality in this trade or that. Unfortunately such a man is unfailingly costly. What he has done, moreover, is no positive guarantee as to his future exploits. Men of great reputation as lieutenants many times prove great disappointments when they shift. The chief who "sees" picks a man whose reputation is yet to be made and thereby gets the profits himself.—Harper's Weekly.

Roused the Judge.

When Judge Gaynor was on the bench in New York he had a case where the attorney for the defense was exhausting the patience of every one in asking absurd questions of a witness whose mentality was of extremely low order. He kept this up for half an hour to no purpose at all and at last explained: "Now, of course, you don't know that the defendant here is a manufacturer?"

"Please don't address your questions to what this witness does not know," interposed Judge Gaynor. "It opens such a wide range of possibility. It is patent that if you persist in finding out what he does not know we will never finish this case. Please therefore try to find out something that he does know."

Learned by Experience.

A wolf and a fox and a lion, having banded themselves together, snared a goat and a stag and a hare. And the lion said to the wolf, "Divide these among us." The wolf said, "The goat is for thee, the stag is for me, and the hare is for the fox," and when the lion heard these words he became wrath and leaped upon the wolf and choked him. Then he said to the fox, "Do thou divide the spoil." And the fox said to him, "The goat is for thy breakfast, the hare for thy lunch and the stag for thy supper." And the lion said to him, "Where hast thou learned to make such an equitable division?" The fox replied, "From the wolf which Ieth before thee, O my lord and king."—From the Orient.

The experience of German railroads has been that the maintenance cost of electric locomotives has been less than that of cars fitted with individual motors.

Of just how much value, daily value, is your left hand to you aside from it being a natural appendage of your left wrist? It is estimated that hardly one person out of ten uses his left hand 5 per cent of the 100 per cent of its usefulness from getting up in the morning until going to bed at night. In this respect the left handed person, although often made the butt of the "lefty" stigma, is far superior to his right hand neighbor. There is hardly a left handed man or woman who cannot use the right hand much more freely and with stronger grip than the right handed man or woman can use the left. So weak is the left hand of many men and women that, although not crippled in any way and perfect as to shape and size, nevertheless it is held back and guarded and restricted as though it were an injured member. In lifting weights or grasping objects with the firmness necessary for moving or shifting the right handed person makes the right hand do three-fourths of the work.—New York Sun.

A Woman at Greenwich Observatory.

"When we visited Greenwich observatory," said the traveler, "I set my watch by the observatory clock. Since everybody else who has a watch does that, nobody paid any attention to me, but my wife created a big enough sensation for both of us.

"She had done a little shopping before we went down to Greenwich. In her hand bag she carried a remnant of lace. Far more attractive to her than the observatory's wonderful clock were the little iron pegs driven into the observatory wall, which represented the true measure of the British yard, two feet, one foot, six inches and three inches.

"Just at 1 o'clock out came her bit of lace, and at the minute when everybody else stood impressed with the fact that standard time for a large part of the civilized world was being set within those walls my wife stood before the iron pegs calmly measuring lace."—New York Times.

Outguessing in Baseball.

Whenever you see a pitcher strike out a batter who doesn't swing at the ball you can know either that the pitcher is outguessing the batter—serving him "strikes" when the batter expects "balls"—or that the batter has been instructed to "wait all you can," in order to tire the pitcher. Of course, if he takes enough time and gets the pitcher to throw three balls and two strikes, he may still be fooled on the last ball and strike out, but in that case the real fault will lie in the orders given him beforehand. When you see a man swing stupidly at the ball and miss it he is either outguessed by the pitcher and is swinging at balls he can't reach or else the pitcher is fooling not his mind, but his eye—is throwing perfectly good strikes, which nevertheless curve or "jump" so that the batter is powerless to "connect with them."—C. H. Claudy in St. Nicholas.

The Chilling Reply.

According to a Washington legal light, there are times when a lawyer regrets the use of an illustration which a moment before has appeared especially felicitous.

"The argument of my learned and brilliant colleague," said counsel for the plaintiff in a suit for damages from a railway company, "is like the snow now falling outside—it is scattered here, there and everywhere."

Whereupon opposing counsel improved his opportunity. "All I can say," he hastily interposed, "is that the gentleman who has likened my argument to the snow now falling outside has neglected to observe one little point to which I flatter myself the similarity extends—it has covered all the ground in a very short time."

Crab's Shell.

The shell of a crab when once hardened cannot grow, and the crab is forced to moult or cast off his outgrown shell from time to time and grow a new one a little larger. A crab when growing this new shell is known as a soft shell or "soft" crab, and at such times he is, of course, especially subject to attack from his enemies, as the shell, which is his natural armor, is wanting. In museums there are exhibits of as many as fourteen castoff shells of a single crab, beginning with a very tiny one and each one just a size larger than the last.

In a Safe Place.

Master (who is trying to make a good impression on his strait laced aunt from whom he has expectations)—"Mary, have you seen a letter anywhere about marked 'private'?" Mary—"You mean the one from the man who can't get his money out of you, sir?" I put it behind the mirror, sir.—London Punch.

Putting It Nicely.

Smith's little boy swallowed a farthing, and there was great consternation in the family. The next day Smith's mother-in-law called and calmly inquired, "Has young Tommy got over his financial difficulty yet?"—London Answers.

Good Plan.

"It's a good plan to mind your own business," admonished the wise guy, "Yes, if you don't somebody else will," added the simple mug.—Philadelphia Record.

Her Hint Failed.

"Do you believe that two can live as cheaply as one?" "No, I don't believe that even one can live cheaply."—Houston Post.

WHISTLING CAT HAS HARELIP.

Animal Never Has Mewed, but Is Musical Prodigy.

Springfield, Mass.—Stanislaus Czysky of Prospect avenue, West Springfield, is the owner of a cat with a harelip, which whistles with the facility of a schoolboy, but cannot mew or, at least, never has mewed.

Czysky is inclined to believe that no animal in its normal state of mind would whistle, but is loath to do away with the cat, which, he says, attracts more attention than any other member of the family and is regarded as a musical prodigy.

Neighbors have suggested that the cat would prove a treasure to a maker of catgut violin strings.

B. G. Smythe and son Phil are taking in the Marietta centennial.
Miss Louise Wulthoff, Mrs. J. Wulthoff and son Charles left for New York City yesterday to visit relatives and friends.
Barnes Larkins who has been in the employ of the United Lines, left this morning for Lafayette, Ind., where he will accept a position as telegrapher.

Fifty Years Ago Today.

July 18.
Desperate Federal assault on Battery Wagner, a Confederate citadel on Morris Island, Charleston harbor. Two brigades, including a regiment of colored troops, stormed the work and were repulsed after capturing one bastion. The brigade commanders and colonel of the negro troops were killed. The Federal army of the Potomac crossed the Potomac to Virginia in pursuit of the Confederate forces retreating from Gettysburg.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today.

The Mills tariff revision bill was before congress.

Java's Valley of Death.

The Valley of Death is on the island of Java. It is the most remarkable natural example of an atmosphere loaded with carbonic acid gas in existence. It has never been fully explored because of the danger of remaining more than a few minutes in its poisonous atmosphere. Approached through an opening between the hills, it is seen to be an oval shaped valley about half a mile across. It is about thirty-five feet deep. The bottom is hard and sandy, without vegetation and strewn with large stones. The surface is covered with the bones of animals, birds and human beings. Explorers seldom venture beyond the borders, though the deadly air does not immediately affect human beings. This is because the carbonic acid gas, being heavier than the atmosphere, settles to the bottom of the valley. Dogs and fowls thrown into it fall senseless instantly and die in a few minutes. No craters or fissures are visible on the floor of this valley, and it is thought that the openings are near the base of the hills.—Exchange.

A Floral Flirt.

The hollyhock is the worst flirt out. One never knows what to expect of it, except that it will always jauntily throw up its banner spikes of bloom and look brightly and smilingly at you. It is a stately coquette. It is pretty and willful. It won't grow in the place to which you carefully transplant it and positively refuses to allow its seeds to germinate in the spot of your choice, but wantonly throws them about in the most undesirable places and flourishes its coarse green leaves from the most impossible locations. Depend upon it? No much! After you have carefully purchased or saved the seeds from the most double blossoms and sowed them in fear and trembling, watched and protected them for a year, they will calmly open their flowers and stand there unblushingly and look you in the eyes, frowning with single petalled bloom. Of all the beautiful, coquettish, tantalizing flowers the double hollyhock is queen.—Suburban Life.

Their Lines Are Ended.

When one considers how many families there are which trace their ancestry in a direct line for many generations it is rather a surprising fact that there is not a single living descendant in the male line of some of the greatest men the world has ever produced. The following is a list of some of the illustrious men whose line never will be represented on the earth again as long as the world stands:
Chaucer, Shakespeare, Spencer, Milton, Cowley, Butler, Dryden, Pope, Cowper, Goldsmith, Byron, Moore, Sir Philip Sidney, Sir Walter Raleigh, Drake, Cromwell, Nelson, Bolingbroke, Walpole, Chatham, Pitt, Fox, Burke, Washington, Canning, Bacon, Locke, Newton, Darcy, Hume, Gibbon, Macaulay, Hogarth, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Sir Thomas Lawrence, David Garrick, John Kemble and Edmund Kean.

Why Memoirs Are Tame.

A professor at a Harvard tea was asked why books of recollections were always so tame.
"Let me tell you a story," he answered. "A great man once said to a friend: 'I think I'll write my recollections.' 'Very good,' said the friend. 'But let me caution you not to recollect anything about celebrities that are living.' 'Oh,' said the great man, 'living celebrities are just the ones I want to write about. They're the ones that will make my book sell.' 'Very well,' said the other. 'But remember my warning.' 'Why, what's the danger, anyway?' 'The danger,' replied the other, 'is that as soon as you begin to recollect things about living celebrities they will begin to recollect things about you.'—New York Tribune.

A Distinction.

Whibbles turned wrathfully on his yokel guide as his car sank up to the hubs in the mire road.
"What in thunder did you mean when I pointed this road out to you on the map and asked you if it was a good road and you said it was?"
"Why," said Silas, "you ask me if it was a good road on the map, and it was. Ye never ask me what kind of a road she was off the map. I could ha' told ye then it was the wust'n the hull dinged county."—Harper's.

Excused.

The Judge—Excuse you have a most satisfying excuse I shall have to fine you for contempt of court for failing to respond to the jury summons. The Taleswoman—I meant no disrespect, judge, but I hadn't a thing suitable to wear, and I couldn't find a ready made jury costume any place.—Woman's Cause.

Did She?

"Do you know, Ethel," said Grace. "I overheard George say to Fred that, although he loves me and wants to propose, whenever he is near me he is too nervous to speak."

Crop Conditions.

Chicago, July 18.—Wheat declined today, influenced to some extent by predictions of larger world shipments. Speculators as a rule inclined to the selling side. Opening prices were 1 1/4@1 1/2 lower. September, which started at 86 1/2 to 86 3/4, a loss of 1/4 to 1/2, fell to 86 1/4 to 86 1/2.

Rains in Kansas and Nebraska weakened corn. September opened a shade to 1/2@1/2 off at 61 1/4 to 61 1/2, and dropped to 60 1/2, but rallied to 61 1/2.

Oats suffered from free selling by local traders. September started at unchanged to 1/2 up at 35 1/2 to 36 1/2, and sagged to 35 1/4, but later rose 3/4.

Higher prices for hogs carried provisions upward. First sales were 2 1/2 to 12 1/2@14 dealers, including September options at 21.30 to 21.12 1/2 for pork, 11.85 to 11.95 for lard, and 11.95 for ribs.

PLAN TO ABANDON CONVICT LEASING

Birmingham, Ala.—With the purpose of taking all of the thousands of Alabama convicts out of the mines, lumber mills and turpentine camps, a state wide movement to abolish the obnoxious lease system is in progress, participated in by the best element of citizenship in the state. At a great mass meeting addresses were made picturing the greed, graft and cruelty of the system, and announcement was made that it would be a fight to a finish between the state's humanitarian spirit on the one side and corporations and professional politicians on the other.

The spirit of the movement was embodied in the question "Shall we send the man who has served his sentence back home a better citizen or drive him to slavery and criminal mania?"

Instances were cited where men had been sentenced to long terms at mine labor for shooting craps, neglecting to work on the roads and stealing rides on trains.

Mrs. Julia Tutwiler, noted for her work for prison reform in the south, sent a message of indorsement in which she pleaded for night schools for convicts, humane hygienic conditions and other reforms tending to make the life of the man in stripes endurable.

An executive committee was appointed to carry the fight into all of the sixty-seven counties of the state and pave the way for a deciding battle in the next legislature. Captain Frank S. White of Birmingham, former chairman of the Democratic state executive committee and for years general counsel of the mine workers of Alabama, was made chairman of the committee. Twenty other representative men of influence throughout the state will help in a whirlwind campaign. In addition each county will have a strong committee.

For years there has been talk of ugly treatment of the convicts in the mines, lumber camps and turpentine mills. In half a dozen or more explosions in coal mines within a few years a hundred or more convicts had been killed. But nobody seemed to worry over their fate.

The state leases about a thousand convicts to several large coal mining and lumber industries and nets from it over half a million dollars a year after feeding, clothing and guarding the men. An average of thirty dollars a month is paid to the state. Each convict is required to do a certain task.

Pearl in Oyster Cocktail.

Chicago.—Mrs. M. J. Anderson, wife of an attorney, while in the midst of an oyster cocktail found a pearl. It was taken to a jeweler's, polished and appraised at $1,200. "And to think," said Mrs. Anderson, "I thought it to be a piece of oyster shell and was going to reprove the waiter."

ROOSTER INJURES BOY.

One Eye Picked Out as He Tried to Protect Sister.

South Norwalk, Conn.—Mabel, the four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grierer Lent of this place, was knocked down by a rooster, and her brother Victor, one year her senior, who went to her rescue, had one eye picked out and the other one seriously injured.

Mabel had gone to collect eggs in the henry when the rooster, a large Plymouth Rock, pounced on her and bore her to the ground. The rooster's spurs lacerated her arms and legs, and she cried out in pain. Had she not held her arm over her face she might have fared the same as did her brother. Her screams brought Victor to her side. He attempted to fight the rooster, only to be knocked down and seriously injured. The children's parents hurried to the scene. The father chopped off the head of the rooster and threw him in the river.

Physicians hope to save Victor's right eye, but the left is gone entirely.

MAN MAY HAVE BEAUTY.

Board of Arbitration Gives Damages For Loss of It.

Danville, Ill.—A board of arbitration in the case of a chinless, Charles Chick, against the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, under the compensation law, has decided that a man can possess beauty and obtain damages for loss of it.

Chick was struck in the eye by a piece of steel last September when at work. The pupil was destroyed, and he asked damages for loss of time, for the handicap by reason of loss of the eye and loss of beauty.

The railway company claimed that a man does not possess such a thing as beauty, but the board decided Chick's appearance had been damaged $200 and that he suffered $500 more in damages to his eye and in loss of time.

The board was comprised of five attorneys named by the court and was headed by Arthur Hall, famous University of Illinois football coach.

Force of Short Words.

A man who acts as tutor and companion to a young boy wrote this indorsement on one of the boy's compositions: "Use shorter words. Follow the example of Horatio Seymour. This is part of an address delivered by him to students in 1878: 'Short words, like love, hate or zeal, have a clear ring which stirs our minds or touches hearts. They tell of joy or grief, of rage or peace, of life or death. They are felt by all, for their terms mean the same thing to all men. We learn them in youth. They are on our lips through all days, and we utter them down to the close of life. They are the apt terms with which we speak of things which are high or great or noble. They are the grand words of our tongue. They teach us how the world was made. God said, 'Let there be light, and there was light.' Mark the words of more than one syllable."—New York Tribune.

Think Strangers Bring Disease.

The inhabitants of St. Kilda, like those of Niue, regard the landing of strangers as fraught with danger to their health. John Sands, who thirty old years ago spent some months in St. Kilda, writes that "the most extraordinary complaint that visits the island is called the strangers' cold. The natives firmly believe that the arrival of a boat communicates this disease. They say that the illness is more severe when the ship or boat comes from Harris and that they suffer less when the vessel comes from Glasgow or London. It is curious that every one caught this distemper when an Austrian vessel visited the island during my stay there. Not one St. Kildan escaped. The symptoms are a severe headache and pain and stiffness in the muscles of the jaw, a deep rough cough and rapid pulse."—London Chronicle.

The Word "Transpire."

Richard Grant White in his "Words and Their Uses" says: "Transpire means to breathe through and so to pass off insensibly. The identical word exists in French, in which language it is equivalent to our perspire, which also means to breathe through, and so to pass off insensibly. The Frenchman says, 'J'ai beaucoup transpiré' (I have much perspired). In fact, transpire and perspire are etymologically as near perfect synonyms as the nature of language permits. The latter, however, has by common consent been set apart in English to express the passage of a watery secretion through the skin, while the former is properly used only in a figurative sense to express the passage of knowledge from a limited circle to publicity."

BONDS TO MAKE HAPPY MARRIAGE

Canton, O.—An unusual agreement, backed by money, has been made between a father and son. The father, a $700 farm and $700 in cash put up by their respective fathers, promises to insure the wedded bliss of Miss Elizabeth Hold, seventeen years, and Cassin Bartt, Jr., twenty, of Youngstown.

The young people themselves have no doubt in their minds that they will get along together. They have sworn eternal love to each other and declare that the agreement and the bonds are entirely superfluous. But the parents, noting the increase of divorce and the fact that there are many pitfalls for the feet of unwary married young people, decided to do all they could in a legal way to make the marriage knot so tight that it can never be untied.

By the terms of the agreement Bartt's father promises that his son will never loaf, gamble, drink, play pool or dance with any young woman other than his wife. He pledges a $700 farm. The bride's father has deposited a cash bond of $700 with a bank that his daughter will make a model wife, will not gossip, run around with other men and will cook to the husband's satisfaction.

BEER MAKES MAN BARK.

Victim of His Own Imagination, Fearing Attack of Rabies.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—George McGowan, formerly of Danville, N. Y., who suffered with rabies last March, but, according to a newspaper clipping found in a pocket, was cured at Albany, drank a glass of beer and later awoke the neighborhood in the vicinity of his room by barking and yelping.

Investigating, the citizens found McGowan on all fours, alternately biting at the table leg and snapping at any one who came his way. A physician and three policemen overpowered the man and took him to a hospital. Specialists in rabies declared the case was not one of hydrophobia, but hysteria; that the man lived in constant fear of rabies and was the victim of his own imagination. They ascribed the attack to the effect of the beer.

McGowan is now comfortable and will recover.

Dr. Johnson on Pensions.

A pension that was made the subject of considerable criticism was that bestowed by George III. on Dr. Johnson. It was said that a man of Johnson's pronounced Jacobite leanings ought to have refused the pension. The doctor took these attacks good humoredly. "Why, sir," he said, "it is a mighty foolish noise that they make. I have accepted a pension as a reward which has been thought due to my literary merit, and now that I have this pension I am the same man in every respect that I have ever been; I retain the same principles. It is true that I cannot now curse the house of Hanover, nor would it be decent of me to drink King James' health in the wine that King George gives me money to pay for. But, sir, I think that the pleasure of cursing the house of Hanover and drinking King James' health are amply overbalanced by $300 a year."—London Express.

Judging Weights.

In making observations on the capacity of different people for judging which of two weights is the heavier Dr. Demoor, a Belgian physician, "has satisfied himself," says the London Lancet, "that, while ordinary people, especially children, fail to appreciate a small difference, the reverse is the case with the imbecile idiotic and half witted. He prepared two bottles, differing in size, partly filled with a heavy mineral, but covered all over with black paper and exactly equal in weight. These he handed to 380 children of from six to fifteen years of age. Of these 310 judged one bottle to be the heavier. The other ten said the two were the same weight. These ten children were all abnormal or degenerates."

Sad Memories.

The curse of this life is that whatever is once known can never be unknown. You inhabit a spot which before you realized it is as indifferent to you as any other spot upon earth, and when, persuaded by some necessity, you think to leave it you leave it not. It clings to you and, with memories of things, which in your experience of them gave no such promise, revenges your desertion. Time flows on; places are changed; friends who were with us are no longer with us; yet what has been seems yet to be, but barren and stripped of life.—Percy Bysshe Shelley.

Puzzle of the Druidical Circle.

How many stones in the Druidical circle at Keswick, England? One antiquarian says forty-eight, but other mathematicians give different and varying estimates. A favorite number is thirty-eight. Superstitious natives declare that the lofty circle is haunted by fairies, who bring to naught the efforts of the profane to take a census of the megaliths. "They can't be counted," says the guide, "however long you try."

"Oh, it's a mutual arrangement. The jokes are at mutual."—Exchange.

Cummins Bill 'Would Jail Men Guilty of Lamar's Trick.

Washington.—With a view to stopping the practice of impersonating members of congress and other public officials, which practice was brought to the attention of the senate lobby investigating committee by the confession of David Lamar, Senator Cummins of Iowa, member of the committee, has introduced in the senate a bill whose object is to deal with persons guilty of such misrepresentation.

The Cummins bill would make practically impossible the impersonation of members of congress, such as that in which Lamar engaged, using the names of Representatives Palmer and Roridan for the purpose of driving Judge Robert S. Lovett and other financiers into employing Edward Lauterbach as their counsel.

Despite the confessed deceptive and fraudulent nature of the plot engineered by Lamar, there is no law to reach it.

Under the Cummins bill impersonation over the phone or otherwise by any person of a member of congress or other public official will be made a felony, punishable by imprisonment of from three to five years, a maximum fine of $10,000 or both fine and imprisonment. Similarly, impersonation over the phone or any one conversing from one state to another will be made a felony.

Sensitive Cheese.

"A cheese in the making is as sensitive to a cold as you are," said a cheese monger. "The finest cheese if it is left in a draft will catch cold and deteriorate. There will be no favor to that cheese thereafter. You mustn't bruise a cheese either. Knock its face and it will discolor, like flesh, and the hurt place will spoil a cheese. In fact, its flesh for the most part—a solid mass of living microbes—and that's why it catches cold and bruises. It's alive, you see, like you and me. Fancy cheeses are made by a secret process. Thus Gorgonzola, the Italian cheese, is made of goats' milk and ripened in caves, and its characteristic blue veins are the result of stabs from a copper wire. Dutch cheeses are congealed by means of an acid. Swiss cheese by means of sour milk and English cheese by means of rennet."—Los Angeles Times.

ASSESSMENT FOR NEW PIKE IS A PROBLEM

JOSEPH TEWELL'S FARM BENEFITED BY TWO IMPROVEMENTS BOTH ASSESSABLE.

Special Legislation May Be Necessary to Relieve Licking Farmer of Unjust Taxation.

County commissioners are facing a problem which it may require special legislation to solve. It has to do with the assessment of Joseph Tewell, a farmer, for improvement of the two branches of the Lick road south of the Licking-Knox county line.

Tewell's farm lies just south of the junction of the two branches, one running to Utica and the other to Johnstown. Both highways pass through his farm, but it is contended it would be an injustice to assess Tewell the full amount for each pike, yet that is exactly what will have to be done unless special legislation provides some form of relief for such cases.

The road assessment problem has given county commissioners no little concern and several efforts have been made looking toward solution, but injustices continue to arise occasionally.

So far three forms of assessment are in use. One is for county pikes a second for state-aid roads and a third for what are known as one-mile-assessment roads.

The first plan provides for the county bearing 80 per cent of the cost of improvement and the owners of abutting land the remaining 20 per cent.

The state-aid plan costs the state 50 per cent, the county 25, the township 15 and abutting property 10; that is, 5 per cent on each side of the highway.

The one-mile assessment scheme is regarded by many as the most equitable of all. Under its provisions the county pays 15 per cent, the township 45 per cent and abutting property a mile back from the road pays the remaining 40 per cent. The property percentage is graded so that land on either side a half mile from the road pays 9 per cent, and that within the next half mile pays 6 per cent.

Commissioners have awarded the contract for the Licking county pike extension to Purdum & Swartz. This extension covers the 2.04 miles from the end of the five-mile Newark-Lincolnton pike now completed to Lincolnton and the old national pike. The contract was awarded at $2.75 per cubic yard for the first course of native stone and $5.50 per cubic yard for the second course, consisting of limestone. Work is to be started at once.

OHIO ELECTRIC OPENS TRAFFIC TO ZANESVILLE

At 8 o'clock Friday morning the Ohio Electric made its first run to Zanesville since the system east to that city was put out of commission by washouts and landslides from the big storm. No through service will be given for a day or so, however, on account of trouble at Vandenberg stop eight miles from Zanesville. This is the only transfer necessary on the line however.

No limited cars will be run until the line is completely repaired. Limited service to Columbus and the west is open as usual.

Work on the east end of the line was delayed Thursday by a long washout at Volant's stop, east of Newark.

B. & O. regular service to Cambridge was opened Thursday, but owing to the number of fires along the line, trains are running about an hour behind schedule time over this line.

STRIKE OF SILK MILL WORKERS NEARING END

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM.

Pittsburgh, N. J., July 18.—The break in the ranks of the silk mill strikers, reported yesterday, after an announcement that "the mill" had been physically unable to continue longer, continued as the mill owners announced the end of their five months' trouble with their factory. It is estimated that $2,000,000 in wages has been lost with the manufacturers are about $1,000,000 out of pocket. The strike began February 5, when 17,500 hands were called out. The first break in the strikers' ranks occurred three weeks ago, when the ribbon and broad silk branches succeeded in according to their capacity. The strikers, however, held firm until yesterday when some of them returned and it was predicted that the entire body of 2,500 would be back at the mills this week. Manufacturers say that the season now lost was the most promising in orders of any spring and summer since 1907.

Sues on Auto Deal.

Charging violation of contract, H. Dean Ashbrook filed suit in common pleas court Friday against Lee Harris, for the sum of $611.50, alleged due from an automobile transaction. Ashbrook's petition, filed by Attorney Eugene Moore, says that Harris agreed to purchase two Ford automobiles, a touring car and a roadster, and $1,000 part payment was to be made in stock in The H. D. Ashbrook company. Both were to be called for by Harris within a week, says the petition. It is said Harris got the touring car but failed to call for the roadster. It is further charged that he violated the contract by trying to sell the car in Union township.

Thief some Sprinter.

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM. Columbus, O., July 18.—Walter Thomas, who of Springfield, Ill., was given a fine of $200 and a term of 30 days in the workhouse in police court today on a charge of petit larceny. Thomas was arrested at the Union Station Tuesday afternoon after he had leaped over the railing, 20 feet into the railroad yards, when arrested as a suspect in connection with the theft of $62.50 from Miss Augusta Stutzer. During the chase through the yards Thomas threw away a watch. This was identified by Archie H. Huston, as having been taken from his coat, which was stolen out of his automobile Tuesday. Thomas denied having taken Miss Stutzer's money, but confessed to having taken the coat.
